Close Schools Week for Rationing

CITY'S GRADE PUPILS BEGIN RECESS FEB. 22

Food Registration to Start Feb. 23.

Turn to page 6 for a sample of the consumer declaration blank which housewives must fill out before registering for ration book No. 2.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

All Chicago elementary school pupils will have a one week holiday starting Feb. 22 to permit use of 333 schools and 9,000 teachers in registration of 3½ million residents of the city for canned food rationing, which begins on March 1 thruout the nation.

In communities of the metropolitan area outside Chicago local rationing officials will make separate arrangements with school officials for the registration, or will ask coöperation of churches or public officials to avoid closing the schools. The metropolitan area includes Cook, Du Page and Lake counties, Illinois, and Lake county, Indiana.

The new nationwide registration will prepare for the issuance of war ration book No. 2, which will provide for point rationing of canned goods. War ration book No. 1, used for sugar and coffee, was issued last May.

How Registration Works.

Here is how the new registration will work:

Each housewife will be able to register all persons living in her household. She must take with her all the No. 1 ration books issued to the members of her household. She also must present a "pantry inventory" of her canned goods and coffee.

In this "pantry inventory," which is called a "consumer declaration" by the office of price administration, the housewife must certify the number of cans of food she had on hand Feb. 21, when the sale of such food will be halted until rationing begins March 1.

She must also certify the number of pounds of coffee owned on Nov. 28, when coffee rationing started.

May Deduct Five Cans.

In computing her inventory of canned goods, the housewife is permitted to deduct five cans for each member of the household. The registrar will detach one eight point blue stamp in the No. 2 ration book for each can held over the five can allowance.

The housewife is called upon in the declaration to list the "number of cans, bottles, and jars [8 ounce size or larger] of commercially packed fruits, vegetables, juices, and soups, chili sauce, and catsup owned, minus five for each person included in this declaration," but she is not required to declare canned olives, canned meat and fish, pickles, relish, jellies, jams, and preserves, spaghetti, macaroni, and noodles, or home canned foods.

No Limit on Inventory.

There is no limit on the excessive inventory which any family may accumulate before the registration period and no penalty is provided except for misrepresentation.

In computing her coffee declaration, the housewife may deduct one pound for every person in her household whose age as stated in war ration book No. 1 is 14 years or older.

Michael F. Mulcahy, metropolitan area OPA director, said registrars will be instructed to accept a declaration filled out on any blank that may be printed in newspapers.

Will Circle Age.

When the signed declaration is presented to a registrar, she will examine it to see that all necessary information is provided. Then she will circle in ink or indelible pencil the age shown in each No. 1 book. This circle will record the fact that the consumer has registered for book No. 2. If the age is already circled, no book No. 2 will be issued.

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, said no schools outside Chicago will be closed unless absolutely necessary. He will meet today with district superintendents to make plans for the registration. Arrangements will be adapted to needs of each community, he said.

China's First Lady to Visit City in March

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, first lady of China, will visit Chicago and speak here March 6 or 7 if present plans mature. Paul G. Hoffman, national chairman of United China Relief, said yesterday that Mme. Chiang had indicated she would accept an invitation, and only the details remained to be decided upon.

It was emphasized that the most famous of China's three celebrated Soong sisters would not come in connection with any appeals or fund raising activities, but solely because she wished to meet Chicagoans and thank those who have shown such deep interest in her country's five year stand against Japan.

Mr. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation, whose office is in South Bend, Ind., said he received a request yesterday that he get in touch with Attorney Silas H. Strawn, long a friend of China, and Dr. Chang-lok Chen, Chinese consul general in Chicago, and ask them to begin arrangements for receiving Mme. Chiang, now in New York.

"My call," said Mr. Hoffman, "came from one of an informal New York committee working on Mme. Chiang's engagements."

Mr. Strawn, who was special United States plenipotentiary to China some years ago, said he and Mrs. Strawn several weeks ago sent Mme. Chiang an invitation to stay with them in their home at 209 Lake Shore drive during her visit. Frederic Woodward, vice president emeritus of the University of Chicago, said she had been invited to speak before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

MUSSOLINI OUSTS CIANO; BECOMES FOREIGN CHIEF

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy has shaken up his cabinet and taken over the foreign ministry, displacing his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, who had held the office since 1936, a Rome broadcast heard in New York said last night.

Mussolini already holds the war, navy, air, and interior ministry portfolios. In the shakeup, Ciano was appointed a member of the Fascist grand council for three years, which apparently became his only post.

In other changes, Guiseppe Bastianini, governor of Dalmatia and former ambassador to Britain, was named undersecretary of foreign affairs. Count Dino Grandi, minister of justice and president of the chamber of fasces and corporations, was replaced by Alfredo de Marsico, a national councilor. The chamber of fasces and corporations replaced the chamber of deputies in March, 1939.

Ciano generally was held to be unpopular with the Italians because of the riches he has attained thru his party and government affiliations and also because of his sensational private life.

A London dispatch earlier quoted information reaching allied quarters that Crown Prince Humbert of Italy had been appointed commander of all Italian divisions in Russia. Observers said this might be a move by Mussolini to remove the prince lest he become a focal point for a political upheaval in Italy, whose people are reported weary of the war.

REVEAL DUMPING OF LEND-LEASE PUREE IN LAKE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—The office of lend-lease administration explained today why 3,000 gallons of tomato puree, part of a stock of 127,000 gallons in Cleveland, O., for lend-lease shipment, had been dumped into Lake Erie after it had spoiled.

Fourteen carloads of the puree were purchased in September from a California firm.

A department specialist was sent to the warehouses and "separated the good tomato puree from the bad, can by can," the lend-lease office explained.

WHAT DO READERS WANT?

Because of the mounting tension in North Africa, the Tribune today presents on the back page a war map in full color showing the combat area in which axis strength will be put to a critical test.

In order to make this timely presentation, the Tribune omits the "Deathless Deer" comic which has been presented regularly in color on Saturday for many weeks.

Under normal conditions, the Tribune would have presented both the map and the comic, both in color. The omission is necessitated by the Tribune's paper saving program in compliance with the War Production Board's order restricting use of newsprint.

Many readers will be disappointed. The new Saturday color comic has been rolling up increasing popularity. This poses a problem: What do readers want? Would you rather have had the comic? Or would you have us continue the policy which, since Hitler marched into Poland, has given you more than 90 full-page war maps in color, each presented to you when your interest in the areas involved was at its peak.

Expressions from readers are invited. Just write on a penny postcard "I want the maps" or "I want the comic," and address "The Editor, Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago."

Plan to Impose Prohibition on U.S. Is Charged

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 [Special].—Distillers charged tonight that the introduction of prohibition "thru the back door" would result from adoption of a newly disclosed recommendation that the sale of distilled spirits be limited to 1 per cent of the 1941 consumption and sales be restricted to purchases for medicinal uses only. They declared that war time conditions again are being used to effect prohibition.

It was learned that the restrictions were suggested by Joseph L. Weiner, director of the office of civilian supply in the war production board office, in response to the request of James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, for a report on what was necessary to maintain the civilian economy on a minimum but efficient basis.

Cite Huge Tax Loss.

Aroused distillers termed the recommended curb "silly" and pointed out that grains, labor, and use of facilities to produce the liquor now in warehouses already had been expended. The suggested restrictions would apply only to existing inventories, inasmuch as production of liquor was halted on WPB orders last fall.

The distillers contended that the government would lose a billion dollars in taxes on goods now in warehouses if the order was placed in effect. The order could not find justification even on transportation grounds, they said, since liquor takes up comparatively little freight space in transit.

Liquor importers were likewise indignant when appraised of the report. They said it would cut off the import of distilled spirits, notably Scotch, upon which Great Britain depends for the major source of its dollar exchange.

Called Blow to Latins

The action also would be a blow, they said, to the economics of Puerto Rico, Cuba, the Virgin Islands, Haiti and Jamaica, which sell rum in quantity to the United States. And it would be a severe blow, they added, to South American nations now selling brandies and wines here.

Regarding beverages in general, the OSC report suggested that the consumption of draft and packaged beer, wine, coffee, and soft drinks could be held to two-thirds of 1941 consumption. A 50 per cent cut in tea and cocoa compared with 1941 also was suggested, altho WPB orders already approximate that cut.

"Experiences in other countries have indicated that these beverages have a value in sustaining morale both to civilians and to the armed forces," the report said, and added that liquor requirements can be met more efficiently from beer and wine.

RULE MEN MUST BE 38 BY FEB. 28 TO LEAVE ARMY

Issue 5 Regulations Affecting Releases.

'Hysteria' in N. Y.

New York, Feb. 5 [Special].—The rush of draft age New Yorkers in nonessential work to offices of the United States employment service in an effort to obtain war jobs reached such proportions today that Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, regional director of the war man power commission, branded it "hysterical." The three day figure passed 75,000 and brought a plea by Mrs. Rosenberg that men classified 3-A delay applying for jobs until certain they now are in jobs on the nondeferrable list issued by Paul V. McNutt, man power commissioner.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—The war department tonight announced a program of five requirements which enlisted men 38 years old or older must meet to secure discharges as overage.

One requirement was that the soldier must attain his 38th birthday before next Feb. 28, indicating that men who reach 38 after this month will not be eligible for discharge.

Indicate Tighter Set-up.

Inquiry at the war department failed to produce comment on this rule. However, the announcement itself supported the view that the discharge program was being tightened, because it said men could not be discharged continually solely because of age.

"To induct a man into the military service and then return him to civil life after a comparatively short period in the army would be uneconomical," the announcement said.

The war department's five requirements for discharge:

1. The soldier must attain his 38th birthday on or before Feb. 28, 1943.

2. He must have enlisted or have been inducted into the army on or before Feb. 28, 1943.

Must File Plea Before May.

3. He must have submitted a written request for discharge prior to May 1, 1943. In this connection, commanders are authorized to extend the time in cases where the soldier did not have sufficient opportunity to file his application.

4. He must present written evidence that, if discharged, he will be employed in an essential industry.

5. Release of the soldier will not seriously affect the efficiency of the organization to which he is assigned.

PUSH AID FOR FATHERS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—The house military committee moved today to amend the selective training and service act to prevent the induction of married men with dependents, regardless of their occupation, while single men or childless married men remain available.

Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] announced hearings had been set tentatively for next Wednesday on legislation introduced today to set up four categories for the mandatory guidance of draft boards in filling quotas. The legislation would prohibit the induction of fathers until all bachelors or childless married men within a state had been inducted.

Predict Quick Action.

"We will get it out of committee next week, and I am sure it will be passed quickly," May said.

Rep. Paul J. Kilday [D., Tex.] prepared the bill.

Committee members said the Kilday bill was intended to block plans for inducting men with dependents if they do not switch from so-called nonessential to essential work fields. The war man power commission announced this week such men would face induction after April 1.

Sets Up Four Classes.

Kilday's bill would set up the following categories, stipulating that all men in one category in an entire state must be taken before men from the succeeding category:

1. Single men without dependents.

2. Single men with collateral dependents [parents, etc.].

3. Childless husbands maintaining a bona fide family relationship, married before Dec. 7, 1941, or before imminent induction, or before it became evident their services would be needed.

4. Fathers maintaining a bona fide family relationship.

Lull in Fighting Gives Axis an Edge in Africa

BY DREW MIDDLETON.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 5.—The Germans have made the most of their two months of grace during which no major battle has been fought in Tunisia, and when the allies launch their major offensive many advantages held by them last November will belong to the enemy.

The Germans hold superior positions along much of the front. The enemy has prevented any allied offensive which might have disrupted communications between Marshal Erwin Rommel and Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim in northeast Tunisia.

There is no indication that the enemy's morale has deteriorated after his defeats in Egypt and Libya, or that after 41 months of war his material has fallen off in quality. Appearance of the new Mark VI. tank, superior to anything on the allied side, should warn the optimists who believe the German military and industrial machine is on its last legs.

Battle for Key Positions.

In scanning a relief map of Tunisia, one notices the enemy occupies those positions thru which most of the eastward attacks will have to be directed, or, if he does not hold them, he commands them with artillery fire.

Since the British 1st army drew off from its first assault at Tunis in mid-December, the Tunisian fighting has been confined to limited actions for high ground and mountain passes in the hills and mountains running from the Mediterranean south to the great salt marshes.

Last week the Germans won one of the most important southern passes at Faid. Against strong American counter-attacks the axis has made its position in this area a formidable one.

The road from Mejez el Bab 35 miles east to Tunis is the classical "road of conquerors," but with the enemy holding some high ground around Mejez el Bab it is difficult to see how a successful attack can be mounted without a consequent heavy shelling and bombing.

Central Position Better.

The position is better in the center, but it is also full of possibilities of a German attack.

The allies hold the west slopes of the mountains along the eastern side of Ousseltia valley with the enemy on the east. The eastern exit to the main pass on the Kairouan-Ousseltia road is held by the Germans. American outposts guard the western exit.

There are indications that the Germans may try to seize two ranges of hills along the west side of the valley as a springboard for attacks on the rear of the 1st army.

Rommel has two choices. The first is to hold on as long as possible while Europe's southern defenses are prepared for the inevitable attack. But the Germans must know the cost would be heavy. The second choice is to smash from the south toward the allies' communications in the northwest. This might cause confusion among the allied forces and enable him to evacuate the bulk of his forces from Sousse and Sfax.

ERROL FLYNN JURY, UNABLE TO AGREE, IS LOCKED UP FOR NIGHT

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 5 (AP).—A Superior court jury of nine women and three men trying Errol Flynn, film actor, on three morals charges [statutory rape] involving two teen age girls was locked up for the night when it failed to agree at 11:54 p. m. Chicago war time, nearly 11 hours after receiving the case. It will resume deliberations tomorrow.

Superior Judge Leslie E. Still instructed the jury it must regard the testimony of Betty Hansen, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., and Peggy La Rue Satterlee, Hollywood night club entertainer, "with great care and caution."

"If you are not satisfied with the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt," the court said, "you are to give him the benefit of that doubt.

"If you find that the defendant committed an act of sexual intercourse with Betty Hansen when she was under the age of 18 and not his wife, it is your duty to convict, even if you find that she placed herself in such a position that such an act might seem to be the natural result."

He repeated the instructions with regard to Miss Satterlee.

ENEMY'S PLANES STRIKE 2 TIMES; 17 SHOT INTO SEA

Battle 35 Miles from Guadalcanal.

TELLS OF PACIFIC WAR.

E. R. Noderer, Tribune correspondent who has just returned from the southwest Pacific, told of the war there in a talk given over W-G-N last night. Story on page 3.

BY CHARLES McMURTRY.

ADVANCE BASE, SOUTH PACIFIC, Feb. 5 (AP).—In two attacks by torpedo planes, one of them a spectacular night assault, against a United States task force in the Solomon Islands a week ago, the Japanese lost at least 17 of their Mitsubishi twin engine aircraft.

The enemy planes streaked in low in the first attack an hour after sunset last Friday night, Jan. 29, when the fading light of day silhouetted the vessels of the American force. There were two waves of them. The first dropped float lights and used marker flares which hung suspended for several minutes over the American surface units, marking their position for the second wave.

Steel poured skyward from every anti-aircraft gun on our ships as the enemy planes released their steel fish and then pressed home their attack. Heavier guns added their shells to the curtain of anti-aircraft fire in the eerie light of the burning flares and flashing guns.

[The Japanese have claimed the sinking of two American battleships and three cruisers by air action. These claims have been denounced as grossly exaggerated by a United States navy spokesman.]

Ships Down Six Planes.

As the enemy planes pressed in to strafe our ships, one absorbed so much steel it exploded and fell into the sea, missing the bow of one vessel by a scant 10 feet. Burning gasoline flared furiously for several minutes on the ocean's surface. Men and officers alike breathed easier after the flames subsided. They had feared they would become a target for other attacking planes.

The enemy paid heavily for the attack. One of our ships shot down three Jap planes. Another vessel in the task force dropped three more.

Altho there were only two waves of planes in the first attack, our anti-aircraft kept up an intermittent fire for an hour and a half as new alerts were sounded. The men remained at general quarters thru the night, sleeping on deck.

Attack Next Day.

Eleven enemy torpedo planes were sighted about 4:15 the next afternoon. They were low over the horizon.

From high in the skies, American fighter planes swooped down to intercept the enemy aircraft. Again every anti-aircraft gun in the task force also answered the challenge and poured steel toward the oncoming enemy planes.

Four thousand yards out, the Mitsubishis dropped their torpedoes and then continued their runs. Straight into our anti-aircraft barrage they came to strafe our vessels.

But our fighter planes, too, dared the barrage, flying thru it, their guns chattering, as they pursued the enemy. On the other side—to port—our fighters finished them off. All eleven of the attacking torpedo planes were destroyed. Six were credited to gunners of the task force and five to our fighter planes.

The Japs launched the torpedoes so far out our sailors had time to run back on the starboard and watch the tin fish. Five headed straight for one ship. The men sat there watching and knowing they had a minute or more to avoid them.

Before the fighters intercepted the Japs, one PBY [navy patrol bomber] pilot tried singlehanded to break up the attack. He flew into those Japs and weaved about among them, but they came right on. Luckily, he wasn't hit.

Yanks Advance.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—American troops advanced along the north coast of Guadalcanal to a position one-half mile northwest of Tassafaronga, Japanese landing point, the navy reported today. The navy maintained its silence about developments in the sea-air fighting and its communique said only that "sporadic encounters" were continuing.

RUSSIANS SEIZE TWO MORE KEY RAILWAY TOWNS

Close In on Four Main Nazi Positions.

LONDON, Feb. 6 [Saturday] (AP).—Two Russian communiques recorded by the soviet monitor here last night and today continued to tell of sweeping Red army gains all along the 1941 German defense line in Russia.

The Russians were reported within 22 miles of Kursk, 45 miles from Belgorod, and only 50 miles from Kharkov. These are the three main German positions in southern Russia aside from Rostov, Caucasian gateway city which already is menaced directly by soviet troops who cracked the first line of German defenses about 30 miles to the southeast.

The midnight bulletin said the Russians south of Rostov still were advancing, and a Reuters [British] news agency Stockholm report said that Bataisk, 10 miles south of the key city, had fallen.

Seize Two Key Rail Towns.

A special Russian communique earlier had announced the capture of Staraya Oskol, an important railway town 75 miles southeast of Kursk, and Izyum, another railway point in the Ukraine 70 miles southeast of Kharkov.

But the midnight bulletin also said that southwest of Staraya Oskol, whose axis garrison was wiped out or taken prisoner, the Red army had swept on to take Skorodnoye, only 45 miles northeast of Belgorod. This town is about midway between Kursk and Kharkov.

In the Ukraine the Russians were said to have captured Olkhovatka, a district center 58 miles from Kharkov, and Veliki-Burluk, another district center only 50 miles from Kharkov and 25 miles above captured Kupyansk.

Advance Perils Voroshilovgrad.

Yama, also in the Ukraine, on the Kharkov-Voroshilovgrad railroad, was seized. This town is 15 miles southeast of Krasny Liman. The taking of these points further endangered Voroshilovgrad, Donetz river basin industrial center.

Only one line is left between Kharkov, Voroshilovgrad, and Rostov, and soviet armies are within 12 miles of it above Slavyansk, and 20 miles from it in the Izyum sector.

In the Caucasus the Germans in the Krasnodar-Novorossisk areas had been cut off from their pivot base of Rostov to the north, and the Red army now was engaged in the beginning of another annihilation similar to tactics employed west of Voronezh and at Stalingrad.

Believe 250,000 Nazis at Rostov.

Rostov still is firmly held, but the battle for that city now is believed to be well under way. Some estimates say the Nazis have 250,000 troops concentrated there, but these men are endangered not only by a three-sided drive by the Russians, but by the Red army sweep in the Ukraine which already has grabbed great segments of Rostov's rear communications.

A Berlin radio commentator said in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press that the German withdrawal in the direction of Rostov "now apparently is completed," that it had been going on for a month. He described it as "one of the most successful operations of the winter campaign."

He acknowledged fighting between the Oskol and upper Donetz rivers and said it was "quite likely that the elastic German defense operations may lead to further withdrawals in this sector."

As for Kursk and Kharkov, the commentator said the Germans still had strong reserves there "not yet thrown into action."

WOUNDED BY STRAY BULLET.

John Menefee, 26 years old, a Negro, was struck in the left leg by a stray bullet yesterday near his home at 930 West 14th street.

JOINT DRIVE BY U. S., BRITAIN, SOVIET WILL TRIUMPH SOON: STALIN

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP).—Premier Josef Stalin in a message to President Roosevelt tonight expressed the "conviction that joint military operations of the United States, Great Britain, and the U. S. S. R. in the near future will bring about victory over our common enemy."

The message, recorded here by Reuters news agency, said:

"To Franklin Roosevelt, commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the U. S. A.: I thank you for your congratulations in connection with the victory of the soviet forces at Stalingrad. I express my conviction that joint military operations of the armed forces of the U. S. A., Great Britain, and the U. S. S. R. in the near future will bring about victory over our common enemy.

"STALIN."

German General Jahr Killed on Russian Front

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lieut. Gen. Arno Jahr, commander of a German infantry division, has been killed on the middle Don front, the Berlin radio said last night. The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said Jahr had been decorated recently with the knight's cross of the iron cross "for his audacious counterattacks on the Don."

WALLACE URGES WORLD POLICE TO ENFORCE PEACE

New York, Feb. 5 (AP).—A "united nations peace force" and an air arm, with the dual job of policing the world and providing commercial transport, was visualized for the post-war period by Vice President Wallace in a magazine article today.

"Peace unplanned could be a disaster worse than war, wrecking business, labor, and agriculture thruout the entire world and producing revolution and misery among the millions," Wallace said in the American magazine. "The first step in preventing such a hell on earth is to build, thru the united nations, a mechanism which can disarm and keep disarmed the aggressor nations."

Such a mechanism must be an allied nations covenant which would provide the machinery for an international peace law, an international peace court and an international peace force, he said.

The first post-war project should be the establishment of a network of "globe girdling airways," he declared, adding that a purely military air force would be extremely expensive to maintain and its members would not have enough to do.

Reds Report Battleship Aids Fight in Caucasus

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP).—The soviet monitor recorded a Moscow broadcast tonight saying that the battleship Parizkaya Kommuna [Paris commune] was playing a big part in operations against the Germans in the Black sea area.

SOVIET-JAP PEACE COSTS U. S. LIVES: FATHER HUBBARD

Asserts Fishery Pact Aids Nipponese Raiders.

Russia's neutrality toward Japan is costing the lives of hundreds of American soldiers in the Aleutian Islands and will add years to the war in the Pacific, Father Bernard Hubbard, famed as Alaska's "glacier priest," told the Executives' club of Chicago yesterday at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman.

Father Hubbard.

Father Hubbard often has been in the Aleutians and returned from his latest trip only three weeks ago.

"We declared war against their enemies," Father Hubbard asserted, "but they [the Russians] have not declared war against ours. Neutrality between Japan and Russia is killing our boys."

Aid to Jap Bombers.

Russian renewal of Japanese fishing rights off the Kamchatka peninsula, near the Aleutian chain, permits the Japanese to bomb American bases "any time they want to, and we can't do a thing about it," Father Hubbard said.

"The Japanese have set up weather stations in the Kamchatka area. Most of the storms move eastward, and the Japs can calculate to the hour when the mists and fogs will clear to permit Japanese bombardment of American positions.

"On the other hand the Americans have no way of accurately forecasting lifts in the fog. When the Russians renewed the Japanese fishing rights, they presented them with the key to the Aleutians."

Father Hubbard said that weather data from fishing vessels off Kamchatka permitted a Japanese aircraft carrier to move close to Dutch Harbor for the bombing attack on that American base last June.

"A few minutes after the attack, the fog closed in again and American planes were unable to trace them back to the carrier," Father Hubbard said. "The Japs had it timed to the minute."

Storms Move Eastward.

Since most of the severe storms move eastward, the Japs can reenforce Kiska no matter how many ships American flyers sink in Kiska harbor, he said. "With weather data from Kamchatka, they move in behind a terrific storm, while American flyers, based farther east, are grounded by the 80 mile an hour gales."

Father Hubbard, who is a civilian adviser to the western defense command, cited a recent incident at an officers' club in Alaska to illustrate the Russian attitude toward Japan.

"A group of Russian flyers stopped over for a few hours on their way back from the United States," he related. "After dinner, the American officers offered a toast to continued Russian successes against the Germans. Everybody drank.

"Then a toast to an American victory over the Japanese was proposed.

"The Russians refused to drink. 'no, no, no,' they said. 'We can't do that. We're neutral.'"

Father Hubbard said he would be surprised if the war in the Pacific ends before many years have passed. "I hope I'm wrong," he said, "but I'm afraid I'm not."

INDIANA AREA VOTES WAR AGAINST PLAN TO IMPORT JAP WORKERS

Goshen, Ind., Feb. 5 [Special].—Townsfolk and farmers voted 55 to 10 at a mass meeting in the courthouse tonight to oppose any plans of the war relocation authority to send Japanese internees here from the west coast to help relieve the farm labor shortage in Elkhart county.

Map locates Goshen.

Nearly every organization in this city of 12,000 passed resolutions condemning the plan after it was reported that farmers in an Amish settlement had proposed requesting Japanese workers. A resolution opposing the move also was introduced in the state house of representatives.

A resolution of the Disabled American Veterans declared that the movement is sponsored by a noncombatant organization and conscientious objectors and asserted it would lead to murders when soldiers returned from the Pacific and found the Japs.

FIND JAPS FORCE MAJOR WAR ROLE ON NEW GUINEA

Build Arc of Troop and Air Bases Near Island.

BY JACK TURCOTT.

[By Wireless to the New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 5.—Japan's rapidly expanding activities thruout the arc extending from the Celebes on the west to New Ireland on the northeast have insured to New Guinea the rôle of a decisive one in the Pacific war.

This is the conclusion reached by observers here after studying the strategy of the Japanese in establishing an easily reënforceable chain of ground troop installations and aerial shipping bases forming a half circle around New Guinea, every base within easy flying distance.

The entire chain constitutes a formidable bulwark against the attempt of the allied nations to advance northwestward to the Netherlands East Indies and north and northeastward to Japan's mandated islands.

18 Airfields Face Australia.

Exclusive of the Solomons, which is the enemy's right flank, the Japanese, from Timor eastward, have at least 18 main landing fields facing Australia. The fields on Timor include Koepang, Dilili, and Fuilore. Ambon, northeastward, has sizable plane, ship, and troop facilities.

The New Guinea fields include Lae, Salamaua, Ambo, Finschhafen, Madanga, and Wewak. New Britain's best fields are located around Rabaul, Gasmata, and Cape Gloucester. Kavieng is the chief air base in New Ireland.

Interspersed are numerous strips [for airplane landings and take-offs] which the Japanese already probably have improved. Lae alone had 12 such fields within an area of 35 miles, besides the main airport. Northern New Guinea has been dotted with numerous airfields since airplanes came in for the first time in 1936 carrying supplies for the gold fields.

Can Protect Its Harbors.

This array of landing fields, supplied by ships traversing Japanese controled waters, permits the enemy to protect its harbors along the coastline and the numerous islands north of Australia, thereby allowing time for the building up of supply bases for troops. Thus it is easy to transport troops by airplane to New Guinea whenever the need arises to meet an allied attack.

This geographical strategy enables the Japanese, having bases on all sides of New Guinea except to the south, to continue fighting there indefinitely.

The Japanese also will be able to delay the allied conquest of New Guinea by a series of small battles in the vicinity of every base, thus prolonging the time before the allies can advance beyond the Bismarck archipelago.

RAISE RABBITS IN YOUR BACK YARD, CHICKENS TOO, WICKARD URGES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—Secretary Claude Wickard urged today that city back yards and vacant plots unsuited for vegatable growing be devoted to raising poultry and rabbits.

"If zoning laws don't interfere, many yards in towns or suburbs, or even in the middle of cities, are good places to raise poultry," his statement said. "Anything that adds to the total supply of food is a step toward winning the war and an added guarantee that we will continue to be well fed in this country."

Urban plots having good soil and plenty of sunshine should be devoted, Wickard said, to vegetable gardens.

Ecuador Curbs Axis Aim, Its Police Chief Reports

Subversive activity in Ecuador is under control, Col. Hector Salgado, chief of the federal military and civil police of that republic, reported yesterday. Col. Salgado visited the offices of the federal bureau of investigation here, coming from a similar visit in Washington. Col. Salgado said his police had arrested and deported 126 Germans, Italians, and Japanese.

ALLIED BOMBERS BLAST 3 SHIPS IN DUTCH E. INDIES

ALLIED HDQ., Australia, Feb. 6 [Saturday]—(AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur hurled his aerial might against Japanese shipping over a wide area of the South Pacific today. Liberators and Flying Fortresses raided in an are sweeping from Ambon in the Netherlands East Indies thru Lorengau in the Admiralty Islands to Talasea, New Britain.

Liberators caught three transports in the harbor at Ambon. They set a 10,000 ton ship aflame and damaged two vessels of 5,000 tons each. They shot down five fighter planes and returned to their base without losing a plane.

The newly formed squadron of Dutch flyers, using B-25s [Billy Mitchell medium bombers], raided Japanese ammunition supply dumps in the Aru Islands, southwest of Dutch New Guinea.

U.S. TO AUSTRALIA LIFELINE PERILED, NODERER AVERS

Tells of War in Pacific Over W-G-N.

The Japanese attack on the Solomon Islands definitely is an attack on Australia and is the gravest threat ever made on the Australian-American lifeline, E. R. Noderer, Chicago Tribune war correspondent, declared last night in a talk to a large radio audience.

Noderer, who has just returned from nearly two years of reporting the southwest Pacific campaigns, spoke over radio station W-G-N in the first of a series of exclusive broadcasts of his eyewitness knowledge of the acute situation in that theater.

"The day after Pearl Harbor I headed for Singapore to cover the Malayan campaign," the veteran writer said. "The Japs are busy little so and so's. They struck Hongkong, Thailand [Siam], the Philippines, and Malaya all at once.

British Poorly Equipped.

"I saw the horror and the heart break and the hopeless defense of Singapore. I want to say right now, men don't come any braver that those British troops at Singapore. But they were poorly equipped, and in my judgment they were poorly led.

"I got out of Singapore ahead of the Japs. There were 30 of us—refugees in a flying boat. The next stop was Java. I landed at Batavia. The Japs swarmed over the island on three sides of Java. When a report came in that the Japs were driving on us with 200 ships and 100,000 men, I left Java.

"I left on an old ferry boat that hadn't been out of sight of land for 30 years. We went thru the Sunda straits. The Japs saw us but they must have figured we were too little to shoot at. We barely made it to Australia. We had no maps. We burned our furniture for fuel. We rationed our water. We threw the cargo overboard. But we got there.

Feverish and Frightened.

"I had dengue fever—a tropical fever—so I felt terrible all this time and the fever wouldn't have been so bad if I hadn't been scared to death.

"In Australia, for a while, I stopped being scared. I made trips to New Caledonia, New Zealand, and New Guinea. The least likeable of them is New Guinea, so that's where I met the Japs next. They turn up in the nastiest places.

"I was in New Guinea when MacArthur's offensive began. As a matter of fact, I flew in the day the first American air borne troops landed. I was on New Guinea three months. I saw the first American jungle fighting, for it was MacArthur's American-Australian offensive that eventually drove the Japs out of Papua.

"New Guinea is a jungle where strange eyes peer at you at night, where mysterious noises never cease, where you're grateful if it doesn't rain more than six or eight inches every day. The jungle front is a front where your slit trenches are always full of water. When a Jap plane comes roaring over you have to make up your mind whether to take a chance with his bombs and bullets or to dive in the stinking water in the trench. What did I do? I dived in the water.

Japs Think We're Asleep.

"In Papua there were about 15,000 Japs. MacArthur's men have wiped them out by now.

"The fact that you haven't heard of any new Japanese invasion in recent months doesn't mean that the Japs are asleep in China, Burma, and the occupied territories. No, not the Nips. They just think we are.

"When Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia said recently there was a great Japanese armada off the northeast coast of New Guinea, he wasn't seeing things under the bed. He was seeing them in Rabaul, Dutch New Guinea, Amboina, and in Timor. He was seeing them all along that great arc of islands stretching 1,500 miles around the northeast shoulder of Australia.

Told Japs Mass Ships.

"Reports of sea battles in the Solomons area proved that Mr. Curtin knew whereof he spoke. But the prime minister of Australia had no corner on that information.

"Here is what I was told on very good authority before I left Gen. MacArthur's headquarters: The Japanese war effort has been suspended for several months on all fronts while every available ship has been pressed into service pouring troops, arms, tanks, and supplies into the theater above Australia and the Solomons. From Kendari in the Celebes and from other great Jap air bases, swarms of planes have been island hopping steadily southward.

"For more than six months Rabaul on New Britain Island has been an important Jap base. Rabaul is the main staging point, or stepping stone, between enemy bases to the north and enemy objectives — the Solomons, New Guinea, and Australia. Moreover, Rabaul has been getting stronger and stronger in the last few months.

"We're doing all we can with what we've got! Lt. Gen. George Kenney, one of the ablest air officers he have, puts his bombers over Rabaul whenever possible. If MacArthur and Kenney could just put enough four engined bombers over the place night in and night out they might make Rabaul untenable. They might drive that armada of which Curtin spoke out to sea where the American Pacific fleet could get at it. They might make those fighter and bomber fields on New Britain too hot for the enemy to use.

Fight Containing Action.

"Down under, in Australia, we don't pretend to know what the global strategy of this war is. But it appears that we are to fight a containing action against the Jap—this is, to hold him where he is—while Hitler is dealt with. Then in theory we are to roll the Japs up like an old rug.

"It might be a good idea. Provided—and I say provided—the Japs string along with it. But maybe they aren't in a mood to be contained. Japs took a stinging licking and their pride is hurt. They'll be bound and determined to retake Guadalcanal at all costs. I'm not disclosing any secret Japanese plans. They've announced their determination to their own people on their own radio. It's not just a matter of saving face, either. If the Japs expect to cut down American lines of communication to Australia, they must reoccupy the Solomons.

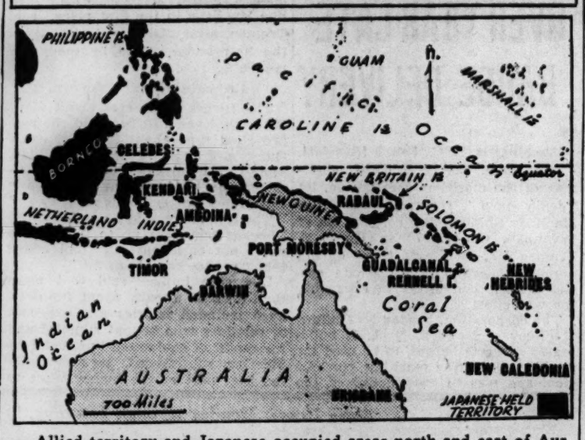
"Without American supplies Australia must go down. The threat to Australia is greater than it ever was.

"The day I left I had a long talk with one of the most competent military men in the country.

"'Sir,' I said, 'what do you think the Japs are going to do with this great concentration to the north?'

"He laughed: 'I wouldn't even try to guess.' Then he grew serious. 'But I'll tell you this,' he said, 'Australia is in grave danger. The Japanese forces off our shores have never been so strong. For months and months the Japanese have been building up for something. Between now and spring we'll know what it is!'"

Battle Area in Western Pacific



Allied territory and Japanese occupied areas north and east of Australia. This is the region discussed by E. R. Noderer, Tribune war correspondent, in accompanying article.

WAR IN EUROPE, ASIA AND PACIFIC SEEN BY NODERER OF TRIBUNE

E. R. Noderer, Chicago Tribune war correspondent who broadcast over W-G-N last night the first of a series of his observations on the obscure naval and military situation in the Pacific, is a veteran member of THE TRIBUNE'S staff of ace foreign news writers who are covering this war from the battle fronts.

Noderer has just arrived from the southwest Pacific. It is his first visit to the United States in nearly two years.

For three years prior to the Pacific assignment, Noderer was writing outstanding stories from the diplomatic and military fronts in Europe for THE TRIBUNE. He was in Rome at the outbreak of hostilities in 1939; he was with the German army in Paris, he reported the German invasion of the low countries, the bombardment of Dunkirk, and conditions in the Maginot line after France's fall.

He came home for a vacation and to write a remarkable series of articles revealing conditions inside Germany, then was off on a 22,000 mile air trip that took him to Cairo, Egypt. From there he went to Turkey and later to Iran, where he was on hand when the Russians and British took over.

He followed the scent of big news to New Zealand, Malaya, Burma, India, Singapore, and Australia.

After recovering from a siege of tropical fever, Noderer met the Japs again in New Guinea, being on hand when Gen. Douglas MacArthur's offensive began.

And if they fully marshal anything like their whole sea and air power they're going to take a lot of containing.

"The Japs claim one action in the present sea battle has taken place at Rennell Island, which is 100 miles south of Guadalcanal. This may indicate they have by passed the Solomons and are heading for the New Hebrides or New Caledonia. Or it may be that this thrust is a feint to draw United States naval support away from the Guadalcanal area.

U. S. Attack Is Surprise.

"The American attack on Guadalcanal was a brilliant surprise. The

LION TO DANCE, BUT NOT HEARTS OF CHINATOWN

A lion of gold and red papier-mache will dance to the beat of cymbals and gongs in a parade climaxing Chinatown's celebration of the Chinese New Year this afternoon, but beneath the surface gayety will be the sombre spirit of a people who have been long at war.

"We are just going thru the motions to carry on traditions" Gerald Moye, unofficial mayor of the 2,000 Chinese in the Wentworth avenue-Cermak road district, said yesterday. "The war is too much with us."

Children kept up a desultory popping of firecrackers yesterday, and at midnight Thursday the Chinese merchants' association conducted a brief public display, in observance of the beginning of the new year — the 4,640th as reckoned by the old lunar calendar.

The Quan Ti shrine room of the On Leong headquarters yesterday was the meeting place of community leaders and their intimate friends. Family gatherings were held last night, and feasts went on until morning.

There will be special determination of acceptability in each case by the army and navy.

Japanese volunteers in Arizona camps will be eligible, beginning next Wednesday, it was said.

STORY IS RETOLD OF REFUSAL TO UNLOAD VESSEL

Editor Recounts Charges by Marines.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—A house naval affairs subcommittee opened public hearings today into complaints that marines at Guadalcanal were forced to unload a supply ship because its crew refused to work over the week-end.

The principal witness was Charles C. Miller, city editor of the Akron [Ohio] Beacon Journal, which published the original story. He testified that the accounts were given the newspaper by marines who had returned to Akron from Guadalcanal.

One of the accounts, Miller said, came from a marine corporal who was ashore at Guadalcanal one Saturday late in August or early in September when a ship dropped anchor.

Tells Corporal's Story.

Supplementing his own testimony with a statement from the reporter who interviewed the corporal, Miller gave this resumé of the corporal's story:

He was ashore at Guadalcanal one Saturday late in August or early in September when the supply ship dropped anchor. The merchant marine crew worked at unloading for two hours and then quit. The crew refused to work all day Sunday, and on Monday the marines unloaded until an air raid warning forced the vessel out to sea. It never returned.

The corporal told the reporter that Maj. Gen. A. A. Vandergrift of the marines had tried to get the ship's captain to persuade the crew to work, but that the effort was evidently in vain.

Miller said that substantiating stories were told by other marines and by seamen, and that a navy flying lieutenant back from the Solomons told of other merchant ships which the crews refused to unload.

Reluctant to Tell Stories.

Members of the subcommittee questioned Miller closely when he explained that the men who told the stories had been reluctant to go into detail because they were in the service, and Chairman Warren G. Magnuson [D., Wash.] placed in the record three denials.

One was from Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, who has informed the committee that he investigated the story on his recent trip in the Pacific and found no substantiation for it.

Another was from Gen. Vandergrift, whose report to the committee said that at no time between Aug. 7 and Dec. 9, while he was in command in the Guadalcanal area, did any civilian crew refuse to do its allotted work. The Vandergrift report said that rarely if ever did a merchant ship land at Guadalcanal, and that it was customary for the marines to do the unloading while the crew manned the winches and did other work.

Another was from Adm. William Halsey, commandant of the area. It said that there had been no refusal of crews to work, but said that more than a dozen merchant vessels had reached the area.

Asks Names of Marines.

Magnuson laid great emphasis on the contention that the marines were expected to do the unloading and that the crew had other work. He asked Miller what the newspaper would have done had it known of the official statements before the story was published.

Miller replied that prominence would have been given them, and that the contradictions with the original accounts would have been pointed out.

The committee made a formal request for the names of the marines who gave the story to the newspaper. A request was also made that Mrs. Helen Waterhouse, the reporter who gathered the facts, appear as a witness when the inquiry is resumed Monday. Miller promised she would appear.

Morrie Kellman, owner of the Globe Auto Glass company, dug into his pockets yesterday to help out his wife, Maxine—on orders of Judge Thomas J. Lynch of the Circuit court. Mrs. Kellman, 21 years old, a former radio actress living at 3520 Lake Shore drive, is suing for separate maintenance. She and Kellman were married on June 29, 1941, and separated last Sunday. She charges cruelty. Yesterday her lawyers, Norman and Joseph H. Becker, told Judge Lynch that Kellman, who is 27, left her with only $2 and she is penniless. Judge Lynch urged Kellman to turn over some money immediately. He did so and the case was continued to Monday to fix temporary support.

FIRST ON DIES' 'CRACKPOT' LIST FIRED BY HOUSE

Burocrat Voted Off U. S. Pay Roll, 163-111.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—The first of the 39 high ranking government officials who have been termed "crackpot burocrats" by Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the committee on un-American activities, was voted off the public pay roll by the house today.

William Pickens.

By a vote of 163 to 111, the chamber ordered the ouster of William Pickens, Negro, charged with being a member of various communist front organizations, from his $5,600 a year job in the treasury department. The action is subject to confirmation on a roll call vote next week and requires senate concurrence.

Earlier the chamber was informed that it will soon have a chance to deal similarly with at least four more on the Dies list and that another has resigned rather than risk being forced off the pay roll by the aroused congressmen.

Agree to Block Job Jumping.

In further action aimed at ending for all time the abuses which Dies denounced in his speech earlier in the week, the house members agreed tentatively on a standing vote, 144 to 45, to legislation to prevent persons discharged from one department pay roll as unfit for government service from securing a job in another department.

This measure was introduced by Rep. Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.], who noted several instances in which congress has forced the discharge of alleged communists and fellow travelers, only to find later that the same individuals were continuing to draw federal pay checks from another agency.

One of the most notable cases was that of Maurice Parmelee, dismissed from a job with the board of economic welfare and later found serving as an economist for the railroad retirement board. Another was that of Dr. David J. Saposs, forced off the national labor relations board pay roll by the Dies committee and the special Smith committee which made a searching investigation into the NLRB, and who recently was added to the staff of the war production board at $8,000 per year.

Ouster of All Asked.

The opening gun in the campaign to rid the government of the 39 radicals was fired today by Rep. Joe Hendricks [D., Fla.] who proposed that the entire list be ordered stricken from the pay rolls. Only thus, he declared, would they be kept permanently out of public jobs.

Offered as an amendment to the pending 1 billion 202 million dollar appropriation bill for the postoffice and treasury departments, it precipitated an uproar and tumult, the like of which has not been seen here since the night the extension of the draft law was squeezed thru the house by one vote. Debate cut across party and sectional lines as many Republicans joined with Democrats in opposing the proposal as too sweeping and contrary to the fundamental American concept of granting any defendant a fair trial before passing judgment.

After nearly two hours of bitter debate the measure was put to a vote and failed by the narrow margin of 153 to 146.

Many members took the floor to promise that as future spending measures involving the other 38 come before the chamber they will insist upon a vote to discharge them, one by one.

CHURCHILL PAYS VISIT TO TRIPOLI; THANKS 8TH ARMY

Cheered by Men Who Routed Rommel.

Leaves Tripoli by Air

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 6 [Saturday]—(AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill left Tripoli by plane early Friday for an unknown destination after a visit at the captured Libyan capital.

TRIPOLI, Libya, Feb. 3 [Delayed]—(AP).—Prime Minister Churchill came to Tripoli today to thank the British 8th army and allied air forces personally for their magnificent feat in driving Marshal Erwin Rommel's axis army out of Egypt and Libya.

"The occupation of Tripolitania has altered the whole character of the war," he told Gen. Harold Alexander, Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, their staff officers, and thousands of troops at Montgomery's headquarters near here.

There was a roar of applause. The men were led by Montgomery in three cheers for the prime minister.

Crosses Rommel's Route.

Churchill's arrival from Cairo was dramatic and exciting. He was flown across the route of Rommel's retreat and saw the story of the British victory in wrecked axis equipment littering 1,000 miles of desert.

As he stepped from his plane here he was greeted by Alexander and Montgomery. He grasped Montgomery's hand in both of his and greeted him warmly. Senior officers present included Col. J. C. Darcy of the United States 9th air force.

Gen. Montgomery and Gen. Alan Brooke, chief of the imperial general staff, rode with Churchill to Montgomery's headquarters. A tank was in front and behind the Churchill auto.

Greeted by Hundreds.

When he arrived at Montgomery's camouflaged trailer headquarters, hundreds of men gathered on a hill to greet him.

It was there that he thanked the forces for their accomplishment.

His speech was followed by three more cheers for the premier and "one for Monty."

To Lt. Col. H. A. French of the United States 9th army air force, the prime minister said:

"You're far away from home. Some of your friends have arrived not so far away and you'll be with them soon."

LAND ASSAILED OVER YEAR LATE BARGE DELIVERY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 [Special].—Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, let "damn poor" contracts with the MacEvoy Shipbuilding corporation of Savannah, Ga., Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], said today during a public hearing of the senate special defense committee investigating the war effort.

The corporation, headed by Clifford MacEvoy of Newark, N. J., is building 23 concrete barges, to be used for hauling oil for the maritime commission, and was to have delivered the first barge March 2, 1942, but to date has delivered none.

"I don't understand why you would make a contract like that with a man like MacEvoy in the first place," said Truman, after MacEvoy had testified the first barge would be ready for launching Feb. 28.

Ultimate Costs Unknown.

The barges alone cost about $700,000 each, Land testified, and the self-propelled type about $1,100,000 each. Questioned by Sen. Joseph H. Ball [R., Minn.] about ultimate costs, Land replied that "nobody but God knows what the ultimate cost is going to be."

The contractor said he and his wife "hocked ourselves up to the ears to carry out this contract," and added that "profits have been nil."

The ship builder said that more than $700,000 already spent for overhead included salaries and expenses of relatives who bought supplies and for rental of equipment purchased by MacEvoy subsidiaries. He also admitted that part of the money went to finance a housing project at Winfield Park, N. J.

Land "Justifies" Contract.

Land testified contracts with the company would be reaudited and renegotiated and that "proper procedure has been taken to prevent unauthorized expenditures."

The maritime commission head said the only value of the barges was "added protection for the people because of lack of other transportation facilities," and that on that basis the barge construction program was "justified."

He said the program was started "with reluctance" on his part because he was "no enthusiast" for concrete.

AFTER WAR JOBS IF BUROCRATS GO, PROFESSOR SAYS

Employment in the post-war United States will be 50 per cent greater than in 1939, if private enterprise is freed of burocratic restraints, Neil H. Jacoby, professor of finance at the University of Chicago, asserted yesterday.

Prof. Neil H. Jacoby.

"Some way, somehow, we must preserve free society," he said. "A vigorous private enterprise is the best guarantee of a free people, and if this system should fail we can expect the government to take over, with a new and bigger WPA sort of agency."

Prof. Jacoby spoke as a member of the research board of the committee for economic development, a nongovernmental group supported by business men, at a meeting of the Windjammer Forum in Mandel Brothers' store.

"Private enterprise cannot remain healthy in a bad environment," he said, "and we must devise a new kind of framework for business. We must transform the tax system from being a device to penalize the giving of jobs, to just the reverse."

Axis Supply and Defense Lines Greatly Shortened.

A study of the color map on the back page of today's TRIBUNE will disclose the importance of Tunisia as a favorable field of defensive action for Marshal Erwin Rommel, the German leader upon whom has been placed the burden of axis resistance in North Africa. Rommel has just retreated 1,200 miles from Egypt, bringing his Africa corps to Tunisia, where he may join axis troops that were rushed into Tunisia from Sicily and Sardinia.

When Rommel's original army was hammering the British at El Alamein, Egypt, it was 900 miles from Italy, across the widest part of the Mediterranean. The Germans and Italians in this position, far from their European bases and even 350 miles from Crete, obviously had extreme difficulties in receiving supplies and equipment.

The picture now has changed. Rommel's corps no longer is in distant Egypt. It is in southeastern Tunisia, not a great distance, relatively speaking, from the other German and Italian units farther north.

Many Problems Eliminated.

If Rommel chooses to concentrate his defensive strength in northern Tunisia, he will have eliminated many of the problems he faced in Egypt. Northeastern Tunisia is only 95 miles from Sicily. The large city of Tunis, a key port, is only 212 miles from Palermo, principal port of Sicily. Bringing axis reënforcements and supplies into Tunisia from Sicily or Italy should be comparatively easy.

The whole situation, therefore, simmers down to the apparent truth that the axis in Tunisia is in a far better position strategically than it was in Libya. Rommel now has relatively short lines to patrol and is not faced with the difficult task of keeping long lines of communications open.

To conduct a strong defensive campaign in Tunisia, all Rommel actually needs is the area around Bizerte and Tunis. If he retires into this restricted field, he can anchor the west end of his line on the sea 30 miles west of Bizerte and the opposite end of his line on the sea 50 miles south of Tunis, and present a strong and tight defense against the allies. This small area would constitute what in effect would be a great fortress.

Problem Facing Allies.

The allies would be compelled to resort to tactics similar to those of the Germans in their assaults on Sevastopol and Stalingrad. The Bizerte-Tunis defense line would be a stronger position for the axis than the similar concentration at Tobruk was for the British. Tobruk was held for many months against superior German forces.

On the other hand, Rommel may establish his southern line much farther south in Tunisia, possibly to include Sfax and Gabes. This would offer the allies more points of attack and thin the axis defense lines. If the allies penetrate Faid pass, where the Zeroud river cuts thru the mountains, it would appear the Germans and Italians would be compelled to abandon all regions to the south and move north to the strongest line of defense, the Bizerte-Tunis area.

Tunisian Military Situation.

Altho current dispatches from North Africa do not make the situation perfectly clear, it is in general thus:

The axis forces, estimated at from 125,000 to 150,000, are holding much of eastern Tunisia, the coastal cities, and most of the strategic points. During Rommel's retreat to Tunisia he is believed to have lost about half of his force of 125,000 to 150,000 men. But British military observers believe these losses have been made up by reënforcements rushed into Tunisia from Sicily and Sardinia, mostly Italians.

Confronting the axis forces is Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's British 8th army, moving from the east and southeast. This army totals from 150,000 to 200,000 men, but not all its units have been brought to the front.

Pressing the axis from the west and southwest are the American expeditionary army, the British 1st army, and French troops, comprising a force believed larger than Rommel's.

Allies' Advantage Offset.

The allies, therefore, appear to possess a marked superiority in numbers. This, however, is offset somewhat by the fact that the axis holds most of the strategic positions. Any well-equipped defending army, in position to move over comparatively short distances to meet enemy thrusts, is generally accepted as possessing the advantage, even tho it is smaller than the attacking force.

Somewhere near the Mareth line, the original French defenses built south and east of Gabes to meet a possible Italian attack from Libya, is part of Rommel's retreating army. What part these defenses will play in the Tunisian campaign is obscure at present. A German stand on the Mareth line, altho it is topographically well situated, would invite penetration to the coast by the allied forces on the west, possibly between Gabes and Sfax, thus dividing axis resistance.

There are a number of mountain ranges or chains in Tunisia, as the map shows. Altho these are not extremely high, they offer barriers to swift military movements. Natural gaps in these barriers, such as the Faid pass, present locations for strong defensive actions.

The complete conquest of Tunisia to obtain a springboard for a smash at Sicily or Italy obviously will not be easy for the allies.

ANDREWS PUT IN COMMAND OF U.S. ARMY IN EUROPE

All-Out Increase in Air Warfare Pledged.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Lt. Gen. Frank Maxwell Andrews today took over as commander of United States forces in the European theater. In keeping with his background as a pioneer in the American air forces of the last war and a strong advocate of combined military action, he promised to increase and intensify air bombings against the enemy on the continent.

Lt. Gen. Andrews.

His appointment was regarded as one of the first tangible results of the Casablanca conference, which he attended as commander of the United States air force in the middle east. Altho he succeeds Lt. Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower here, Andrews said his arrival does not affect Eisenhower's position.

A Division of War Theaters.

"The plan is to make a division of the war theaters," Andrews said. "Eisenhower remains as a commander in North Africa. My command in the European theater does not include Africa and the Mediterranean. Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle remains as deputy commander. I report direct to the war department."

Andrews, who is 59 years old, is stocky, ruddy faced, and white haired. He greeted correspondents in the office formerly occupied by Eisenhower.

"I am carrying on the good work my predecessors started," he said. "My first job is to intensify the air bombings of the enemy and to prepare for the reception of the larger forces which undoubtedly will be brought to the United Kingdom.

To Go All Out After Targets.

"I intend to go all out," Andrews continued, "in the air warfare against strategic targets being selected by higher authorities than myself. I believe very strongly that strategic bombings will continue 'softening' Germany. We shall build up the bomber force as fast as the formation of new units and the shipping situation permit."

Asked whether the bombings meant Britain was an air base rather than an invasion base, Andrews replied: "I regard bombing any time as a prelude to invasion." He added that he did not intend to start night bombing immediately.

The general said he advocated combined action by land, sea, and air whenever practicable.

Concerning dive bombers, Andrews said an offensive with them was effective only with complete air superiority.

Depends on Fortresses, Liberators.

"In the middle east the German dive bombers were duck soup for our fighters," he said. "For the time being, we are continuing to pin our faith on the Fortresses and Liberators. I do not know of any new type of those bombers in existence."

Andrews, born at Nashville, Tenn., was graduated from the United States Military academy at West Point in 1906. His first contact with the army air forces was in August, 1917, as a major with aviation.

He became a lieutenant general in September, 1941, in command of the Panama Canal department.

Strike at Italy

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP).—The R. A. F. bombed the Turin arsenals and the Spezia naval base in Italy, German industries in the Ruhr, and Nazi submarine pens at Lorient, France, last night.

By official count, the R. A. F. lost only three planes in the four separate night raids.

British fighter planes attacked railway targets in France and Holland today. American air force Spitfires damaged two escort vessels off Holland. One British and one American plane were missing.

Among the American airmen whose planes shot down Nazi fighters in yesterday's Fortress raid on northwest Germany were:

YANKEES BLAST 52 AXIS AIRCRAFT IN BIG AERIAL FORAY

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 5 (AP).—An outstanding aerial feat in which American airmen destroyed 26 axis planes and damaged 26 others, with a loss of 10 allied craft, was announced today. Land action remained minor and the British 8th army probed Marshal Erwin Rommel's defenses along the southern Tunisian frontier.

A headquarters spokesman announced United States armored forces had withdrawn from the Sened railway station in central Tunisia, 65 miles northwest of the axis held port of Gabes, after "accomplishing the purpose of their mission."

Twenty-four of the 26 axis planes shot down—this was yesterday in fights resulting from American raids on German air fields in the Gabes area—were torn apart by two formations of Flying Fortresses in a 50 mile running combat which cost only one Fortress. The 25th axis plane was downed by American Lightning fighters; the 26th was destroyed in attempting to sweep in over the allied forward area.

In the great combat over Gabes, four Lightnings were lost, aside from the Fortress. Five other allied fighters were lost in other operations.

UNITED AFRICAN COMMAND IS NOT PLANNED: F.D.R.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—President Roosevelt today spiked reports that a unified command would be established for the North African theater of operations. The chief executive, recently returned from a conference in North Africa with Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain, said the reports were news to him.

He aded that so far as he is concerned unity of command now exists in North Africa with Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in full command of the American forces in the southern front, Gen. Harold Alexander in command of the British forces in the northern front, and Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery in command of the British forces driving against the axis forces from the east.

Mr. Roosevelt made it clear that the American forces in North Africa theater will continue to operate under American command. He said further prognostication is out of place at this time.

AFRICANS TO GET 30,000 TONS U.S. GOODS MONTHLY

Food, Clothing, Machinery Going as Lend-Lease.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—The United States plans to send to North Africa 30,000 tons a month of lend-lease supplies, including farm machinery parts and farm tools, newsprint, food, and clothing, Lend-Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius reported today. The shipments to African residents will amount to about 50 million dollars a year, officials estimated.

Officials declined to give a breakdown showing how much farm equipment and other items are being sent. The war production board has cut the output of new farm machinery for American use this year by 69 per cent and has allowed only a 67 per cent increase in the output of farm machine parts. These amounts have been termed inadequate by officials of the department of agriculture in view of record crop goals set for farmers.

50,000 Tons Sent So Far.

Shipments of nonmilitary supplies to North Africa to date have totaled 50,000 tons, of which half was sent by the United States and half by Great Britain, Stettinius said.

Altho Great Britain has made an emergency shipment of food, most of the food sent to North Africa in the future will come from the United States, he added.

Flour, sugar, and powdered and condensed milk make up more than half the shipments. Other items include cotton goods, new and used clothing, shoes, medical supplies, soap, seeds, copper sulphate, fish nets, refractory bricks, chemicals, and metal and electrical products.

Britain to Send Coal.

Britain will supply most of the African needs for coal and small amounts of tea, coffee, potatoes, cereals, vegetables, and vitamins, Stettinius reported.

Stettinius said the United States and Britain are being reimbursed for most of the supplies being shipped. Payments for lend-lease supplies, he said, are being made in local currency, which is used to buy cork, phosphate rock, iron ore, and other metals for this country and Britain.

Combined committees representing the United States and Britain have been set up in both Washington and North Africa to handle shipments of nonmilitary supplies.

Giraud Abolishes 'Imperial Council' in North Africa

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 5 (AP).—Gen. Henri Giraud, French African high commissioner, abolished the "imperial council" created by his predecessor, the late Adm. Jean Darlan, today and set up in its stead a "war committee." The new body was considered not so much of a provisional government and, while membership in it was the same as that of the imperial council, Giraud left the door open for the entry of other members, presumably representatives of Gen. Charles de Gaule, Fighting French leader.

WAR REPORTER DIES IN SINKING OF BRITISH SHIP

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP).—Edward Henry [Harry] Crockett, Associated Press war correspondent, died of wounds received in the torpedoing of a British warship of the Mediterranean fleet, the admiralty announced today. The 31 year old reporter died on the fleet assignment he sought as successor to Larry Allen, who was captured in a raid on Tobruk last Sept. 13. Crockett was picked up at sea after the torpedoing in which several British sailors were killed. He died on the rescue ship and was buried at sea.

Edward Crockett.

Lt. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, United States commander in the European theater, expressed regret, for he had known Crockett when the reporter was covering the British 8th army and United States forces which Andrews then commanded.

In the desert war Crockett was injured when he scrambled beneath a truck to escape bullets fired from a German plane.

Crockett became the first Associated Press war correspondent known to be killed in the present war.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—With hope abandoned in congressional circles for approval of the Ruml plan for pay-as-you-go income tax collections and elimination of 1942 taxes, the house ways and means committee will interrupt its consideration of the new tax legislation tomorrow to take up a proposal for repeal of the $25,000 salary limitation imposed by President Roosevelt last year.

At a session a week ago administration leaders refused to chance a committee vote on the question when they saw the entire Republican membership of 10 and three Democrats, a majority of the 25 on the committee, lined up in favor of administering a congressional rebuke to the White House. They quickly secured an adjournment on the pretext that Mr. Roosevelt should be consulted before action was taken.

Attempt to Reverse Vote.

Since, then, however, most of the "consulting" admittedly has been between the three Democratic insurgents and various Presidential emissaries, including administration stalwarts among their colleagues. At least two of the three, it was said tonight, are standing firm, but some doubt was expressed about the third. A switch of even one vote would tip the balance in favor of the administration forces.

It was reported that President Roosevelt would intercede directly to accomplish defeat of the repealer. According to these reports the President wrote a letter to Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] which will be read at the hearing tomorrow.

The 10 Republicans, meanwhile, met briefly this afternoon and reaffirmed their determination to stand solidly behind the repeal proposal. It was offered by Rep. Bertand W. Gearhart [R., Cal.] in the form of an amendment to the pending legislation to raise the national debt limit from 125 billion dollars to a record peak of 210 billions.

Congressional approval of the repealer which is attached to the bill to increase the national debt limit, would leave Mr. Roosevelt the choice of accepting the rebuke or of repealing the entire measure, including the increase in borrowing power which has been asked by the treasury to enable it to continue raising money for the war.

Return to Tax Bill Monday.

Resumption of hearings on the legislation to bring American wage earners up to date in meeting their income tax obligations to the government is scheduled for Monday.

Following the appearance of Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the New York Federal Reserve bank, before the group yesterday to argue for his plan, it became apparent that the committee members are swinging toward a compromise version which would permit forgiveness of part of the tax bill for 1942 but require persons in the higher brackets incomes to pay part of their last year's taxes while starting on the 1943 levies.

The Ruml plan calls for skipping the 1942 bill entirely and bringing every one up to date at once. He urged action on the legislation by April 1. The treasury, strongly opposed to his proposal, has suggested that 1942 and 1943 taxes be doubled up in the interests of raising a share of the 16 billion dollars in new revenue for the next fiscal year.

7 GOATS GONE, SO ANIMAL SHELTER BREATHES EASIER

Mr. Buffington's seven goats, found rollicking in Mr. B's house at 3025 Oriole avenue five weeks ago in Mr. B's absence, became an investment property yesterday. The Anti-Cruelty society sold them to an investment broker, J. J. Reingold, 134 North La Salle street.

The price was $100. Reingold thought that was plenty but the Anti-Cruelty society said it was cheap, barely sufficient to cover board and room since the society took over the goats when, neighbors said, there was something in the air which told them all was not as they thought it should be at Mr. B's house.

Reingold said he bought the goats for two reasons: [1] Mr. B, whose first name is Arthur and who is somewhere in the east, owes Reingold some money on his house and Reingold wants to protect the Buffington livestock holdings. [2] Reingold has some empty barns on his farm west of the city just waiting for goats. He hopes Annie, Fannie, Lannie, Dannie, Mannie, and Zannie, who are nanny goats, will start producing milk soon. As a milk producer, Willie, who is a billy, will be, in financial language, a lemon.

After the goats moved to the farm, the anti-cruelty staff breathed deeply, and safely, for the first time in weeks. Relief was in the air.

GREEN PRAISES BATTLE SPIRIT OF AMERICANS

American soldiers fight with the spirit of men who know that theirs is the only form of government under which all people enjoy personal liberty, freedom of enterprise, and walk with heads erect in decency, Gov. Dwight H. Green said last night in Chicago.

He addressed a rally held at Taft High school under auspices of the Norwood Park, Rosedale, Higgins, and Edgewood community civilian defense organizations.

"American soldiers have made the most glorious record in history," he said, "and the American civilian population is setting a pace of military production which must share prominence with the exploits on battlefields. During the last year, almost every production goal has been equaled, or exceeded."

NAZI SUB SINKS SWEDISH VESSEL WITH TIME BOMBS

Gives Men Half Hour to Abandon Ship.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—The navy reported today that a German submarine crew operating in daylight recently sank a small Swedish merchant vessel off the northern coast of South America by four time bombs after 25 crewmen had been allowed 30 minutes to abandon ship.

The incident occurred in the Atlantic in mid-December, a statement related.

Blinks Order to Halt.

About noon lookouts aboard the merchantman reported a submarine on the surface was rapidly overhauling their ship. The U-boat presently blinked out an order to halt and then demanded that an officer be sent over. The ship complied with both orders.

"Twenty minutes later," the navy continued, "the merchantman's chief officer returned and reported that the submarine commander would allow 30 minutes to abandon ship. The 25 crewmen loaded two lifeboats with provisions for a month, collected their personal belongings, and pulled away.

Four Blasts Rock Ship.

"A rubber boat containing three men immediately pushed off from the submarine and boarded the merchantman. It was nearly an hour later when four heavy explosions rocked the vessel in three different places. A great column of gray smoke billowed up, and the ship slipped quickly beneath the surface.

"Well provisioned and favored by fair winds, the two boat loads of survivors safely reached the coast of South America three days later."

VOTE IN HOUSE ASSAILS SILVER PURCHASE PLAN

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—The house voted against the silver purchase program today in a move which Rep. Emanuel Celler [D., N. Y.] called "a powerful gesture—a sock in the jaw for those preventing the use of the metal."

It approved an amendment by Celler, which Republicans supported almost solidly, prohibiting the use of any funds from the treasury department's annual appropriation bill "directly or indirectly" in buying silver under the 1934 and 1939 silver purchase acts.

While demonstrating the attitude of the house, the amendment has no practical effect, however, because funds to finance the silver purchase program are not contained in the bill. The amendment was adopted, 166 to 103, under procedure which called for no record vote.

ARMY PLANE CRASHES WEST OF CLINTON, ILL.; FARMERS HUNT BODIES

Clinton, Ill., Feb. 6 [Saturday]—[Special].—A large army plane crashed in a field six miles west of here shortly after midnight.

Muddy fields prevented ambulances from reaching the fallen craft, which did not catch fire, and farmers with teams of horses were sent from a nearby highway.

The number of dead and their identity was not learned. Officials at Chanute field, Rantoul, 80 miles distant, were notified and a detachment of soldiers was sent here.

No Barefooted Horses Scheduled After All

American horses won't have to worry about going barefooted, at least until next August, the Horse and Mule Association of America reported yesterday. It said the government had authorized horseshoe manufacturers to increase their output, including mule shoes, to slightly more than 100 per cent of what they produced in 1940 or 1941, whichever year was larger.

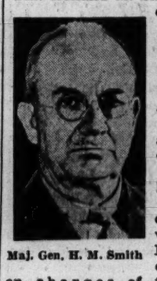
MARINE GENERAL SEIZED AS DRUNK, HIT-RUN DRIVER

Halted 3 Miles from Scene of Auto Crash.

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 5 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Holland M. Smith, 61 years old, commanding general of the fleet marine force, San Diego area, was released on $500 bail today after detention by police on a hit-run, drunk-driving charge.



Maj. Gen. H. M. Smith

Gen. Smith, highest ranking marine officer in this area, was booked by Motorcycle Officer Fred Kelly on charges of felonious hit-run driving, and a misdemeanor hit-run.

Seaman Injured.

Capt. Elmer Warner, chief of the police traffic bureau, said his staff was investigating the case for presentation to the district attorney's office.

Kelly said he stopped Gen. Smith three miles from the downtown San Diego street where Alvin J. Wilder, 23, navy machinist's mate, 2d class, received a broken leg when struck by an automobile.

Another Car Hit.

Shortly before Gen. Smith was halted, a vehicle operated by Cass Rose, San Diego, was sideswiped by a hit-run car, resulting in fender damage. This incident was the basis of the misdemeanor hit-run charge placed against the general.

Kelly said the general was driving 50 miles an hour with bright headlights in a dim-out area.

Mrs. Smith, speaking for her husband, who declined to comment, said, "The police report was very much exaggerated. They made a mountain out of a molehill."

LET LEND-LEASE ACCOUNTS DIE: REP. WADSWORTH

New York, Feb. 5 (AP).—Rep. James W. Wadsworth [R., N. Y.] today highly praised operations of the lend-lease arrangement between the allied nations and said he hoped there never would be an accounting of the money and materials involved in it.

"The lend-lease thing is working far better than any of us ever suspected it could work," Wadsworth said in a speech before a luncheon meeting of the Bond club, attended by several hundred prominent men in Wall street.

"The gratifying thing is that we are receiving from our allies such enormously important and valuable supplies and services in return for the things we supply," he added. "The dollar sign is not important. There may be a striking of balance some day but I hope our people will never try to say some ally of our owes us so many dollars when this war is over."

CROSS ADVISES NATION TO GUARD ITS CIVIL RIGHTS

Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross last night warned Americans to be on guard against "attempts in high places" to rob us of cherished rights. He referred specifically to Vice President Henry A. Wallace. Cross spoke before 200 Y. M. C. A. leaders at the 85th annual banquet of the Elgin Y. M. C. A.

"Now that the tide of war seems to be turning in our favor," Cross said, "we have observed an avalanche of visionary schemes to reform the world overnight. Social reformers in particular have seized upon the coming victory as an excuse to promote their radical plans.

"We are in no mood to alter our American system of government, and I submit that unless we remain constantly on guard, there is serious danger that attempts may be made in high places to rob us of some of our most cherished rights and freedoms."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

J. H. C. asks: "Can a cost accountant who doesn't have complete charge of the cost department, but who is the assistant to the office manager, apply for occupational deferment? Would it make any difference if he is in 'essential' industry, and if he isn't, would it do him any good to transfer? Just what are the implications of the 'work or fight' order for 3-A's?"

ANSWER: No clerical or semi-administrative employment entitles a 3-A to deferment. It doesn't make any difference if he is employed in a "war industry." It still is pretty safe to gauge your possibility of deferment on the rule that unless you transfer to a vital capacity or skill which requires more than six months' training you are not likely to be deferred any longer than if you remain in your present work.

A. J. writes: "I received a leaflet from the University of Chicago on their meteorology courses indicating that graduation from high school was a prerequisite for admission to their basic or beginning course. In your column you stated 'a high school senior.' Which is correct?"

ANSWER: A student registered in his senior year at high school is eligible for acceptance.

M. W. asks: "Can a nurse past the regular army age, which is 40, I believe, enter the nurse corps of the army for foreign service? Would the foreign service alter her citizenship? Thru what channels would she apply?"

ANSWER: Nurses, married or single, will be accepted for overseas duty up to 45 years of age, and 40 years of age for domestic service. The place of service in no way affects the citizenship status. Apply to the Surgeon General's Office, Washington, D. C.

I. K. F. asks: "As the draft law now stands, is it permissible for a boy to enlist in the air corps reserve before his 18th birthday and be granted deferment to finish high school?"

ANSWER: Recruiting stations have been instructed by the war department to accept 17 year old boys for enlistment as reserves in the army and in the army air corps as aviation cadets. The written consent of the parents is necessary. Under no conditions will these boys be called to active duty until 18 and probably not until six months after their 18 birthdates.

FORM COALITION TO OPPOSE LAWS AIMED AT LABOR

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—The CIO announced today a coalition of the major labor organizations would fight what it called the threat of anti-labor legislation in congress. The coalition, the CIO said, will include the AFL, the railroad brotherhoods, and farm organizations.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, announced the legislative plans after a CIO executive board meeting which adopted a report condemning "an unholy alliance of poll tax Democrats with the most reactionary wings of the Republican party."

He said the coalition which will fight this alliance is the first of its kind in the history of the labor movement. He said the farm representation will include the National Farmers union, which he described as an organization of "working farmers."

TELLS HOW AXIS DIVERS BLEW UP ALLIED VESSELS

Capt. Roger C. Heimer, veteran coast guard officer, told the child welfare committee of the American Legion last night of desperate efforts made by the axis to sink American shipping in Mediterranean harbors. The committee, representing 19 midwest states, is meeting in Hotel Sherman.

Capt. Heimer said that enemies, wearing diving helmets, swam below the surface and attached time bombs to the keels of ships. Some ships were sunk. In other cases, one or two men "rode" maneuverable torpedoes, then, after setting their directions, slid off and swam away. These attacks were carried out at night, he said, and forced constant small boat patrol and use of small depth bombs.

Another speaker was Lt. Edward Mulick of Mandan, N. D., who recently transferred from British to American air forces. He shot down several enemy planes in Libya, and was himself shot down. Earlier in the day, Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois state selective service director, said in an address that only about 100 men in Washington were qualified to say what size army we should have. A large army, he said, would insure a year's minimum training.

NEWSPRINT CUT DOESN'T HAMPER OWI'S MAGAZINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—The office of war information announced today that 540,000 copies of its new picture magazine, Victory, will be printed in six languages for distribution abroad to combat axis propaganda.

The magazine weighs 13 ounces, which requires the use of 438,000 pounds of printpaper. The OWI plans to publish it every two months, making a total of more than 2½ million pounds of paper a year. The use of paper by magazines and newspapers in this country has been reduced by 10 per cent by order of the war production board and will be further reduced in the next few months, according to WPB officials.

An experimental issue, of which 450,000 copies were printed last fall in English only, was circulated free in neutral countries and occupied territory such as North Africa.

The second issue, which is now going to press, will be sold at the equivalent of 25 cents a copy in some areas and distributed free in others.

The budget bureau said the funds were needed to "provide for additional requirements for the prosecution of the war," and "to provide for contingencies which have arisen since the transmission of the budget for the fiscal year 1943."

Judge Igoe Rules Parker Must Serve Year in Jail

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe ruled yesterday that Frank Parker, known as the airplane bootlegger during the prohibition era, must serve a year in the county jail on a charge of conspiracy to forge express money orders. Parker had sought to escape the jail term on the contention that he was serving it concurrently during the 19 months he spent in federal prison on a counterfeiting charge. Parker began serving the jail term several weeks ago.

CAREY MURDER BRINGS DRIVE ON COAT BURGLARS

Police Study Records to Learn Methods.

Convinced that the slayer of Estelle Carey was a fur coat burglar, probably a member of a fur theft gang, police searched their records yesterday in an effort to get a picture of how the gang has been operating.

In the Town Hall district, where the killing occurred, they found that 14 robberies in which furs were the principal loot have been committed since October. There have been at least 40 similar robberies in other north side districts. Since stolen furs are difficult to dispose of, police believe that a well organized group of thieves and fences may be in operation, perhaps with outlets in other cities.

Miss Carey, who was the former sweetheart of Nick Circella, alias Dean, the ex-Capone gangster who is serving a federal prison term, was found beaten and burned to death Tuesday in her apartment at 512 Addison street. Two fur coats were missing after the crime was discovered, and a woman resident of the building reported seeing a man flee down the rear stairs, carrying two coats.

Other Burglaries Listed.

Police listed the following other fur coat burglaries in the Town Hall district since last October:

OCT. 6—Stella Podjasek, 3719 Southport avenue; pass key burglar; ladies' Persian fur coats, valued at $125.

OCT. 8—Arthur Thompson, 707 Junior terrace; burglars entered thru rear door; took one black Persian lamb coat valued at $675, one Alaskan seal jacket, $170, and one white ermine jacket, $50.

OCT. 19—Mrs. Morris Bower, 3510 Pine Grove avenue; burglar entered thru rear door; took lady's mink full length coat, valued at $800.

NOV. 19—Nick Malko, 532 Aldine avenue; jimmied front door; took lady's Persian lamb fur coat and silver fox jacket, valued at $225.

DEC. 3—Julian Lentin, 530 Belmont avenue; used case knife in front door; took four sables, valued at $400, and jewelry, total $1,265.

DEC. 18—Mrs. Edward Koch, 439 Melrose street; unknown manner of entrance; mink coat, valued at $750, and Persian lamb, valued at $650, stolen.

DEC. 21—Dr. Lewis M. Myers, 434 Melrose street; entered thru side window off fire escape; stolen, lady's mink coat, valued at $1,450, ermine jacket, $300 value.

Dec. 25—Max Friedman, 609 Stratford place; entrance manner unknown; lady's black Persian lamb, worth $575, and sable dyed jacket, $575 value.

DEC. 30—Oscar Rosner, 4600 Sheridan road; broke into store; stole lady's fox coat, value $75.

DEC. 30—Esther Ruttenberg, 3935 Pine Grove avenue; opened front door with case knife; stole lady's Persian lamb coat, value $350, lady's mink jacket, $150, sable dyed marten jacket, $150 value.

JAN. 3, 1943—Cora Walsh, 820 Agatite avenue; bedroom window jimmied; lady's black skunk coat, valued at $200, jewelry, etc., total value, $735.

JAN. 2—Abe Rothlum, 3313 Lake Shore drive; used pass key; silver fox fur, valued at $500, Russian lynx fur, $750 value, three piece sable neckpiece, $300.

JAN. 5—Rose Hanek, 622 Patterson avenue; pass key in front door; lady's silver fox, valued at $400.

JAN. 17—Shirley Leipsig, 728 Sheridan road; jimmied front door; took lady's Persian lamb coat, value $350, another Persian lamb, $500, a palamano fox fur chubby, $400 value, a sable fur piece, $150 value, and jewelry worth $700.

Galvin Slaying Recalled.

The investigation recalled the slaying of Mrs. Lillian Galvin and her maid, Miss Edna Sibilski in the Galvin home at 3038 Normandy place, Evanston, last Oct. 22. The slayer or slayers fled with jewelry valued at $28,000 and furs valued at $3,350. The crime never has been solved. Mrs. Galvin was the wife of Paul V. Galvin, radio manufacturer.

Chicago police received a letter yesterday from the Los Angles, Cal., chief of police, asking detailed information on the Carey murder. He said the crime was similar in many respects to the murder of two women in Los Angeles last December.

Letters of administration for Miss Carey's estate were issued yesterday by John F. Keeley, assistant to the probate judge, to her uncle, Otto A. Bomark, 1710 North 79th avenue, Elmwood Park. The estate, estimated at $4,000, includes $1,750 found in a bank deposit box and jewelry found in Miss Carey's apartment. Her mother, Mrs. Lillian Carey, 3234 Armitage avenue, appeared to prove heirship.

MAKES FALSE REPORT OF MURDER.

James Bowbin, 30 years old, 4210 North Ridgeway avenue, a war plant watchman, was charged with disorderly conduct by police yesterday after he turned in a false report of a murder while in a tavern at 2744 West 18th street.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by A. N. Henrich, 1232 North La Salle street.]

THE QUESTION.

Did you ever try to "put one over" on the teacher? [Asked of high school students.]

WHERE ASKED.

St. Clement school, Orchard street near Deming place.

THE ANSWERS.

Joan Millek, 2520 Burling street—When we were supposed to be studying our lessons I had a comic book clipped in my loose leaf notebook. I pretended to be working hard, even referring to an open textbook at the side. The teacher walked by unexpectedly and asked if I didn't think I should save something like that for my home work.

Mary Ellen Clark, 2663 Burling street—I thought it was going to be very simple to get myself out of a situation. When the teacher asked if I was chewing gum I swallowed it quickly and said I wasn't. I had no sooner finished speaking when I started to choke. She said it was a shame to take a risk like that just to keep from being a prevaricator.

Mary Therese Higgins, 1903 North Kedzie avenue—Every time the teacher made me stay after school in the lower grades I had it all figured out that I was really putting one over on her. I was pretty sure that she would rather go home early, too, and that it was punishment for her to have to work overtime when she had to stay there with me.

Dolores Paluch, 2518 North Ashland avenue—Quite often the teacher has asked all those in the chemistry class who knew the answers to raise their hands. Once when I didn't know the answer I joined the others and hoped I'd get by with it. I was called to give the answer and felt like quite a hypocrite when I had to admit I didn't know anything about it.

James C. Hagerty, 2108 Sheffield avenue—Anything I've ever tried to put over on the teacher doesn't equal the stunt I tried to pull off on my parents. The grades on my report card weren't all what they were hoping to see. With a little job of retouching I raised all of them, but forgot to change the average grade and got caught.

Frank West, 2938 North Clark street—One time during an exam I thought I'd try to get away with a little underhanded work. I wrote down a few important dates and names that I thought would come in handy and intended to use them for reference during the test. The teacher caught me with the evidence and the grade she gave me for that cured me for all time.

SAW NO BANDIT IN PUCKETT CAR, WITNESS SAYS

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 5 [Special].—Clyde Williamson, 49 years old, Tippecanoe county highway employé, who passed the Will R. Puckett car on Sharon Chapel road shortly before Puckett's wife, Ella May, was slain last Nov. 6, testified today that he saw no hitch-hike bandit in the car.

Puckett, on trial here for first degree murder in the Chicago woman's death, has maintained that such a bandit was in the car and that he later killed Mrs. Puckett.

Williamson testified he was sitting on a road maintainer machine at the time, his head 7 feet above the road level. He saw an elderly couple in the front seat, the man driving and the woman sitting beside him, he said. He asserted he could see into the car, but observed no one in the back seat.

Puckett, who is 64, contends the bandit killed his mail order bride when she refused to give him $300 she was carrying.

IMPOSES THREE MONTHS IN JAIL ON EDDIE STURCH

Judge Klarkowski Also Fines Him $200.

Eddie Sturch, ex-convict and Kelly-Nash political henchman in the 42d ward who boasted of his political affluence, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski in Criminal court to three months in the county jail and fined $200 for malicious mischief.

Eddie Sturch.

Sturch, a stout little man who likes to be known as a "tough guy," was convicted a week ago by a jury for smashing whisky bottles and terrorizing patrons Dec. 2 in a tavern at 701 North Clark street. Denying a motion for a new trial yesterday, the court ruled that if Sturch failed to pay the $200 fine he must work it out in the Bridewell.

Released Pending Appeal.

Nattily dressed but with his toupee slightly awry, Sturch appeared little concerned over the jail sentence. He chatted amiably with friends while his attorney, George Crane, announced the sentence would be appealed. Sturch was allowed his liberty on a $2,500 bond.

In his arguments for a new trial, Crane said the state used prejudicial evidence by referring to the North Clark street playboy as a "self-appointed dictator of North Clark street" and "Napoleon of the 42d ward." Crane argued that at most Sturch was guilty of a charge of glorified disorderly conduct.

Knave in Legal Sense.

"The Supreme court has said a man may be sent to jail for a specific crime, but not simply because the man is a knave," Crane said. Outside of court Crane explained he referred to Sturch as a knave only in a legal sense.

Crane's arguments were opposed by Richard Austin, assistant state's attorney. The state had sought to convict Sturch on a felony count which would have carried a prison sentence, but the jury found him guilty of a misdemeanor. Sturch did not testify in his own defense.

REMOVE 24 YEAR UNION REGIME; ASK ABOUT CASH

Track Layers Act After Denial of Elections.

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.

Meeting last night for the first time in 24 years, members of the Track Layers, Construction Workers and Repairmen's union, local No. 1009, voted to oust their officers, and demanded an explanation of why their treasury, into which nearly one million dollars had been poured, contains only $105.

The meeting, held in the Midland hotel, 172 West Adams street, brought to light a story of nearly a quarter of a century of the union's domination by the officer clique. The announcement that the officers had been removed not only from the posts but from the union, was met with cheers from the 600 indignant members present.

Election Moves Squelched.

How the 1,100 members of the union had been dominated for 24 years by their officers was unfolded at the meeting for the first time. It was brought out that previous attempts of small factions to adhere to union by-laws and conduct annual elections were quickly squelched by the organization's officers.

The only meeting place that has ever been provided the 1,100 members has been the union headquarters at 2136 Washington boulevard, in which 12 persons can be seated comfortably.

The officers whose terms were ended are Sam Luzzo, president; Tony Shanel, vice president; Alfred O'Brill, secretary-treasurer; Charles Matthews, recording secretary, and Novak Rosevich, business agent.

Their ouster resulted from a petition which will be sent to international headquarters of the union in Washington, D. C.

Five Months' Drive Succeeds.

The movement that had its culmination last night started several months ago, it was disclosed, when a group of five members, led by Angelo De Iulis and Jack Veich, working with Slim Brundage, secretary of the Council for Union Democracy, an inter-union labor group, and Atty. Francis Heisler, began agitation for an election.

Petitions were drawn up at a subsequent meeting five days ago attacking the current leadership, and were circulated. When the petitions were returned at last night's meeting, it was found that more than 900 of the 1,100 members had signed them.

Dues Reduction Asked.

Resolutions were adopted calling for a reduction of the initiation fee from $50 to $5; of the monthly dues from $2 to $1; for annual elections, with a clause permitting the union to oust the president at any time he may be deemed unsatisfactory; a minimum wage of $1 an hour with time and a half for overtime and Saturdays, and a "clean union of track layers under their own elected officers."

Ousted officers were directed to give an accounting of all funds they have received thru the years, to turn over the $105, and all books and records.

The temporary committee was instructed to arrange for nominations within 30 days and to notify the international union when new officers are elected.

The local is a unit of the Hod Carriers, Builders and Common Laborers' International union.

EXPERT TO HELP IN TEST OF CITY COURT DIVORCES

Sol R. Friedman, an expert on divorce law, was appointed friend of the court yesterday by Judge Thomas J. Lynch in Circuit court, to determine the validity of divorces granted by city judges to nonresidents of the cities where the divorces were obtained. Thousands of divorces in the state are affected.

Sol R. Friedman.

The test case at issue is that of John F. Cullen Jr., 28 years old, 10635 Avenue G, a defense worker, and Mrs. Harriet Stevens Cullen, 19, of 8818 Indiana avenue. He is suing for annulment, and she for divorce.

Cullen, thru his attorney, Elmer J. Schnackenberg, speaker of the Illinois house of representatives, states that he married Mrs. Cullen after her divorce from Paul Stevens, a soldier, in Calumet City. He contends the divorce is invalid because neither she nor Stevens lived in Calumet City, and his marriage to her therefore is void.

One of the legal points to be studied by Atty. Friedman is the legislative amendment allowing city judges to grant divorces to nonresidents of their communities, provided, however, that they live in the county and their suits are not contested. Judges of Calumet City and Chicago Heights have acted under that amendment, but the question now raised is whether the legislature had the right to expand their powers to that extent.

FIND SON GUILTY IN FATAL BEATING OF AGED MOTHER

A jury in the Criminal court of Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday convicted Joseph Ruff, 53 years old, on a charge of manslaughter for the fatal beating of his mother, Rachel, 84, in their home at 1818 South Springfield avenue last Sept. 2. A motion for a new trial and hearing on a petition for probation were set for Feb. 15. The state contended Ruff killed his mother when she nagged him for drinking. Ruff repudiated a confession made to police and said he had found his mother beaten when he came home from work. A verdict of manslaughter carries a one to 14 year prison term.

RETIRED HARNESS DEALER IS KILLED BY ARMY TRUCK

Joseph Kantor, 73 years old, retired owner of a saddle and harness business, was killed yesterday when he was struck by an army quartermaster supply truck at 16th and State streets. He lived at the Medinah club. The driver of the truck was Harold McFern, 27 years old, colored, 5419 Calumet avenue.

Eugene Connelly, 25, of 6956 Foster avenue, an electrician at an aircraft plant, died in Waltham Memorial hospital of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile Tuesday at Higgins road and Canfield avenue. Theodore H. Gooden, 41, of route 2, Des Plaines, was the driver of the car.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 48 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 44 were killed in Chicago, where 1,268 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

TRUMAN GIBSON SUCCEEDS HASTIE IN WAR AID POST

Word was received from Washington last night that Truman K. Gibson Jr., Chicago Negro attorney, had been appointed acting civilian aid to the secretary of war, succeeding Judge William H. Hastie, Negro, whose resignation became effective Feb. 1.

In resigning, Hastie protested that there had been discrimination against Negroes in the army air force, and indicated that his advice had not been sought on military matters pertaining to Negroes.

Gibson has been assistant to Hastie. He practiced law in Chicago and is a former executive director of the American Negro exposition in Chicago. His home here is at 3507 South Park way.

CHAPTER 16.

UNCONVINCING SOLUTION.

Miss Silver busied herself with her knitting for a moment before she said, "Lucy considers you a most charming person, my dear Randal."

He made a wry face.

"There are people whom I would rather charm. But I'm sorry for her, poor thing. Now listen. The ballistics man says there's no doubt at all that the bullet taken from Tanis Lyle's body was fired from the pistol found in the open drawer of her bureau. The medical evidence is that it was fired on the level from not less than a yard away, and that death must have been instantaneous. You see what that means—she was shot while she was standing at the top of the flight of steps leading to the church. If she had been on one of the lower steps, the bullet would have entered at an angle. She had opened the door, and she was standing there looking out. She could have been shot from the lift, or from the drawing room, or from the doorway to her sitting room. A variation in her own position would make any of them possible."

Miss Silver knitted. Then she said, "Why should the door have been open?"

"I think she opened it herself."

"Probably. But why?"

"The obvious answer is that she was expecting some one."

Miss Silver frowned.

"She came downstairs to admit some one to her sitting room—that is what you suggest?"

"Well, it seems obvious."

"And some one else came in thru her sitting room and shot her from behind?"

March nodded.

"Thru the sitting room or the drawing room, or from the lift. I don't think the drawing room at all likely—the door was shut and the handle had not been wiped."

She shook her head.

"She would have heard the lift coming down. And what about the handle there?"

"Perry's prints all over it. She came down that way as soon as the alarm was given."

"And the sitting room door?"

"Dean's prints on the outside handle of the door from the hall. He came in that way. Fortunately he didn't touch the inner handle or any part of the door between Miss Lyle's sitting room and the octagon room, or the oak door to the church. The inner handle had been wiped clean. The other two doors had not been wiped. They both show Miss Lyle's own fingerprints. The same with the bureau drawer. She opened it and those two doors herself, but the murderer had wiped the pistol and the inner handle of the sitting room door. You see the picture that gives—she comes downstairs in her pajamas and dressing gown——"

Miss Silver coughed. "You say the stairs, Randal, but she might have used the lift."

"She used the stairs," said Randal March. "Desborough saw her."

"Dear me!" Miss Silver exclaimed.

"Ah! That interests you. It interests me quite a lot. He says the wind kept him awake and he read till he had finished his book. Then he thought he'd go down and get another. When he came out on the gallery overlooking the hall he saw Tanis Lyle on the bottom step of the stairs. There is a low powered bulb burning in the hall all night. He could see her quite well. She was in her black dressing gown, and she was just stepping down into the hall. She went across it, opened her sitting room door, and went in. He says he went no farther. He didn't want to meet her, so he gave up any idea of getting himself a book and went back to bed. He looked at his watch, and, he says, the time was five minutes to 2."

Miss Silver said, "Very interesting, indeed. But I find no difficulty in believing that he did in fact go back to his room. If he had anything to conceal he had only to hold his tongue about the whole episode. It seems to me that he had every possible reason for wishing to avoid an interview with Tanis at such a compromising hour."

March looked at her.

"Some reasons," he agreed. "We know what they were. But there may have been others which forced him to an interview. We have only his own word for it that there had been a reconciliation. A woman like Tanis Lyle would not allow an open quarrel to spoil her houseparty. She might dance with him, play the perfect hostess, and yet be threatening him—or Laura Fane. Perry heard her say something on the lines of 'Your Laura's name will be mud.' By the way, here's her statement. You had better read it."

She took it from him, read it thru, and laid it down with an expression of distaste.

"The type of witness who would twist the most innocent remark into something sinister," was her comment. "It is curious and salutary that hatred should invariably betray itself."

"Why should she hate Carey Desborough?"

Miss Silver shook her head.

"Not Carey Desborough, Randal—Laura Fane."

"But why?"

"She has been with Agnes for 41 years. She was with her when Laura's father broke their engagement to marry Lillian Ferrers. The present situation bears a misleading resemblance to that unhappy affair—she sees Laura as another Lillian. She hates her, and her hatred puts a twist on everything."

"No," he said. "But Desborough admits to a good deal of what's in that statement of hers. They did quarrel, and he was pressing her to tell Miss Fane that there was no engagement between them. She did call him darling and invite him to make love to her. He says that this was sarcasm and over Perry's head."

"That is very likely. Tanis Lyle had a cynical, sarcastic vein."

Randal March made a kind of sweeping gesture with his right hand.

"Well, there you are. It's like that all thru. He admits the bit about saying he'd like to murder her, too, only he says it wasn't a threat, just sarcasm."

"I expect he felt like wringing her neck," said Miss Silver placidly. "He had considerable provocation, according to Perry. But since he restrained himself at the time, I am unable to believe that he went downstairs more than 24 hours later in the middle of the night and shot her in the back."

He interrupted her.

"Not necessarily—in fact, not at all. He admits to having seen her go downstairs. Suppose he followed her down, pressed her again about this engagement business — the quarrel flared up. She had a very offensive tongue, you know. That bit in Perry's statement about Laura Fane and the piece at the end where she twitted him with having lost his nerve—they got him on the raw all right."

"I am not surprised."

"Nor am I," he said. "Well, it might have happened that way."

"My dear Randal!" Her tone was one of mild reproof.

"And why not?"

"The door," said Miss Silver more in sorrow than in anger—"the door into the church. If she were quarrelling with Mr. Desborough, can you think of any reason why she should have opened that door and stood there on the top step with her back to him looking out?"

He frowned meditatively.

"I can't think of one—"

Her needles clicked.

"Nor can I."

"There's something else," he said. "And that's why I called you in. You know I have just seen Miss Adams. Well, she has made a statement which brings Laura Fane into the picture."

AIDS OF M'KIBBIN MEET TODAY TO SPEED UP DRIVE

Party Workers Will Visit New Headquarters.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Regular Republican organization leaders said yesterday that the "big push" behind George B. McKibbin for mayor will start today after the official opening of his headquarters in the La Salle hotel.

It is expected that thousands of party workers will take the opportunity to shake hands with the tall white haired candidate between 2 and 5 p. m. Thus far the former ace member of Gov. Dwight H. Green's cabinet has appeared in about a dozen of the 50 wards.

Last night McKibbin was to add the 2d, 5th, and 8th wards to his list of appearances. He planned again to emphasize that various factors combine to give the G. O. P. its best chance in over a decade to beat the Kelly-Nash machine.

Lyle Continues Fight.

Former Judge John H. Lyle, independent Republican candidate, said yesterday that he will continue his fight against crowded street cars despite a setback in the Municipal court of Judge Gibson E. Gorman.

Judge Gorman turned down Lyle's request for three warrants against each of the five members of the surface lines' board of managers. Lyle showed photographs to back up his charge that the 1911 and 1940 city ordinances banning overcrowding of street cars are being violated daily.

"I have no authority to issue the warrants," Judge Gorman said. "The Illinois commerce commission has been established specifically for cases like this."

He did not express an opinion as to why the city council had passed the ordinances.

"This man professes to be a traction authority but he neglects to tell the court that he is a candidate for mayor," said George L. Griffin, attorney for the car lines. "He wouldn't be here if he weren't out for nomination. He isn't sincere."

Trade Verbal Punches.

Lyle moved toward Griffin and told him to "shut up," adding that "You wouldn't be here if you didn't get a regular fat check from those coupon clipping car line officials."

City Prosecutor William M. Barth joined in Lyle's request that the warrants be issued, but Judge Gorman was firm in his refusal. Later Lyle declared that "the ruling will be resented by the suffering car riders."

Arthur F. Albert, the other independent G. O. P. candidate, struck a lull in his extensive radio campaign. He has made 12 of 33 radio speeches.

"Effects of this aggressive radio campaign in two weeks are clearly reflected by straw ballot returns which show Albert leading McKibbin everywhere by two or three to one," said William C. Boyden, Albert's manager.

Boyle Schedules Meetings.

Ald. John S. Boyle, one of the two rivals of Mayor Kelly for the Democratic nomination, worked on schedules of ward meetings for next week. He will appear tomorrow at meetings in the 14th and 16th wards and on Monday at meetings in the 42d and 43d wards.

James T. Igoe, leader of the Free Democratic league, said he has asked Julius F. Smietanka, collector of internal revenue under Woodrow Wilson, to head the executive committee for Boyle's campaign.

INDICT TOUHY AND 3 OF GANG AS ESCAPE AIDS

Roger Touhy and three members of his gang who escaped from Stateville prison last October and later were rounded up by federal bureau of investigation agents, were indicted by the Will county grand jury in Joliet yesterday for aiding the escape of the fifth member of the gang, Edward Darlak.

Named with Touhy were Matthew Nelson and William Stewart, serving 20 year terms each, and Basil Banghart. Banghart, who has been transferred to the federal prison at Alcatraz, and Touhy, are under 99 year terms each for kidnaping John [Jake the Barber] Factor. State's Atty. James E. Burke of Will county said no effort would be made to return Banghart to Joliet for trial.

If convicted, the Touhy gang members face the same sentence Darlak is serving—199 years. Burke said evidence concerning Darlak's brother, Casimer, and Percy Campbell, would be given the jury Monday. Casimer Darlak and Campbell, a fugitive from Joliet prison, are accused of providing the guns used in the escape.

Davis, an out of court settlement was made in behalf of Mrs. Jacobson, and a daughter, Nancy. Erwin Martay represented Jacobson.

BARRETT OFFERS 5 POINT PLAN TO END VOTE FRAUD

The county and probate judges of the state, attending their 41st annual convention in the Hotel Sherman, yesterday heard Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett outline a five point program for the eradication of vote frauds in every county in the state. Judges of the Circuit and Superior courts in Illinois, meeting for their midwinter conference, were present at the luncheon at which Barrett spoke. The five point program follows:

1. Set up a bureau of identification whereby information on persons convicted of election law violations can be exchanged by every county in the state.
2. Establish a clearing house so that information may be exchanged on the various methods of election manipulations.
3. Each judge to conduct classes prior to election to instruct poll officials on the tricks employed by vote thieves.
4. Establish it as a policy that election law violators will be punished severely.
5. Instruct the election officials to be on the alert for strangers taking an active part in local elections.

WOMAN LAWYER IS CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

Miss Helen Cecile Leach, 31 years old, an attorney, was found guilty yesterday by Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court on a confidence game charge. Joseph Gulanowski and his wife, Lillian, said they paid Miss Leach $1,620 on her promise to get Gulanowski a card in the electricians' union and a job. They said she boasted of influence in 5th ward Democratic circles. A motion for probation was set for Feb. 17, but Judge Sbarbaro warned Atty. Roland Libonati he would not consider such a petition unless restitution was made to the Gulanowskis. Miss Leach said the money was paid for legal services.

The wedding of the Brittinghams on May 19, 1935, was a social event. Mrs. Brittingham was granted custody of her daughter, Jean, 3½ years old, and $160 a month alimony and support, the same sum Brittingham had been paying since their separation.

Col. Robert L. Scott said in New York the other day that 500 planes at the disposal of Gen. Chennault would enable the allies to drive the Japanese out of China. Col. Scott is the general's aide and the commander of the one group of American fighter planes now in China. He said it was Gen. Chennault's considered opinion that with three or four additional groups to aid them the Chinese army could turn the trick. He added that we already have bases in China that are on the flank of the sea lanes followed by the Japanese in supplying their far-flung garrisons. A few hundred planes sent to China, he believed, would make it impossible for the Japanese to maintain their forces in the Solomons, New Guinea, Burma, and Indo-China.

So why isn't it done? Granted that the Chinese coast is blockaded. Granted that China is a long way from San Francisco. It is nevertheless true that if the official figures of airplane production are accurate we are producing planes in this country at the rate of thousands a month. The bigger bombers can be flown all the way to China. The smaller fighters can be flown the last lap. It is neither easy nor economical to fly gasoline, spare parts, and bombs into China but it can be done as Gen. MacArthur's air-borne expedition over the Owen Stanley mountains proves.

It can be done, but it isn't being done, presumably because Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill have decided in their own minds that the war against Japan is and must remain a sideshow while attention is being concentrated on Europe. Meanwhile we are to confront Japan with barely enough strength in the Solomons, New Guinea, and China to keep the enemy from expanding further.

This strategy doesn't make sense. Germany already has Russia and England against her. We are sending troops to reënforce the European zone altho Britain has millions of men under arms who are much nearer the scene of operations. Japan is confronted by a relatively insignificant force of Americans and Australians except in China and the situation there is as described by Col. Scott.

As matters stand, Germany is getting the worst of the attrition. Without reënforcing the European position, we can feel confident that Germany is being weakened steadily. On the other hand, time is fighting on the side of Japan. To be sure, our submarines are taking their toll of her shipping, but the process is a slow one and meanwhile she is consolidating her conquests. If Japan is allowed to hold what she has, it won't be long before she will have organized the tremendous man power and wealth of the southwest Pacific for her service. Every day we leave her in control of her conquests makes her stronger.

A few hundred planes sent in the next few months to England or Russia can hardly make a great deal of difference one way or the other. A few hundred planes sent to China can mean the difference between a very long war against Japan and a short one.

HORATIO ALGER RIDES AGAIN.

Those who have been wondering what plans were embodied for them in that rather depressing phrase, "from the cradle to the grave," as used by Ma Perkins and like minded New Dealers, may now turn for enlightenment to Henry Wallace. That's right, Henry has spoken again.

Until he made his historic declaration there had been only a rough perception of what life would be like between the two terminal points. You would be born a bonus baby. There would be a bounty for tender tots like you, and your fortunate parents would collect. And finally, when you turned your face to the wall, your benevolent government would again take over. The death benefits would provide as flossy a funeral as any conducted by the Over the River Burying society.

That takes care of your first breath and your last gasp. Of course, it doesn't come exactly free. You would pay a social security tax, à la Beveridge, for these boons. Ma thinks a rate of about 10 per cent would be about right. The bassinet and the bier having been provided for, the question then arises: What's in between? Take her away, Henry.

Well, says Mr. Wallace, he envisions "an America where all can become members of the middle class." It may seem like a contradiction in terms that there can be a middle class without an upper class and a lower class, but that's the way Henry sees it. We're all going to be leveled out. There won't be any indigents heading for the mission and a handout of coffee and doughnuts, and there won't be anybody making a million by developing hybrid corn. We'll all be in between.

The process of becoming middle class in a universal way, however, will not be soulless in the least. Private initiative, says Henry, will be permitted to flourish. Ingenuity will be encouraged and we may expect to see many varied forms of adroitness employed as the individual hoists himself into the middle class from below or puts himself into a power dive from above, whichever is warranted by his prior condition. Once in the middle class, of course, he is, in the language of burocracy, frozen. He stays there, merely muttering, "Move over," for he'll find plenty of company—in fact, all the company there is.

The struggle to attain the middle class should prove exhilarating. The well heeled banker, obliged to come down a few pegs, will busy himself making unsound investments until he is sufficiently reduced in circumstances. The shiftless parent, accustomed to blowing his Saturday pay check in the pub, will find the bartender paying him for the beers he drinks. The hobo riding the rods will be approached by the directors of the Pullman company and invited to put up in a lower berth.

No wonder that Henry, transported by enthusiasm, proclaims, "Horatio Alger is not dead in America and never will be!" We do not know what Alger hero we shall be required to emulate, but there is a wide choice of titles: "Bound to Rise," "Luck and Pluck," "A Brave Boy's Fight for Fortune," "Slow and Sure, or from Sidewalk to Shop," "Sink or Swim, or from Newsboy to the Middle Classes."

We are pretty certain, however, that government is going to have enough to say about it so that "Strong and Steady, or Paddle Your Own Canoe" is preëmpted. And we wouldn't be surprised if Henry had taken his cue from "Nothing to Do: A Tilt at Our Best Society." And of course we are all to cringe before the British upper class.

THE EARLY DAYS OF THE SMEAR.

The decisive rebuff handed the smearers at the polls last November has failed to bring a halt to the activities of a minority element of the press and a few radio loudmouths who have lent their talents for vilification to the New Deal. The purpose of the smear, now as then, is to override the will of the common people, silence or liquidate their representatives in government, and establish the philosophy that the people should accept enslavement at the hands of centralized authority so that the executive power, in its infinite wisdom, may achieve the New Deal Eden and the attainment of its internationalist schemes.

This technique of deriding popular rights and assassinating character is not, as some might imagine, original with the New Deal and its supporters. Like most of the other trappings that deck out something politically quite ancient, this particular one was borrowed from the practitioners of an older despotism.

Benjamin Franklin, writing in his Pennsylvania Gazette in November, 1737, has described the technique with an accuracy that might lead to the notion that he had been an observer of the contemporary scene. It happened, however, that he was writing of the reign of Charles II., who, in common with certain other heads of states, "aimed," in Franklin's words, "at the subversion of government, but concealed his designs under a deep hypocrisy." The first step was to appoint a licenser for the stage and the press, who saw to it that the kept scriveners of the king did their best to bring the opposition, wherever centered, into disrepute.

"As the city of London, in all ages, as well as the time we are speaking of, was remarkable for its opposition to arbitrary power," says Franklin, "the poets leveled all their artillery against the metropolis, in order to bring the citizens into contempt. An alderman was never introduced on the theater but under the complicated character of a sneaking, canting hypocrite, a miser, and a cuckold; while the court wits, with impunity, libeled the most valuable part of the nation.

"Other writers, of a different stamp, with great learning and gravity, endeavored to prove to the English people that slavery was jure divino. Thus the stage and the press, under the direction of a licenser, became battering engines against religion, virtue, and liberty. Those who had courage enough to write in their defense were stigmatized as schismatics, and punished as disturbers of the government."

The ridicule heaped upon the aldermen of London because they were the defenders of popular rights had its counterpart in the sneers leveled at the continental congress by the Tory authors during Sir William Howe's occupation of New York—the first application of the smear in America. G. O. Trevelyan, writing of this Tory climate of 1776, recalls the "Tory authors whose circle of readers cared for nothing except highly spiced satires upon the iniquities and vulgarities of congress." The phenomenon of a Winchell, smearing congressmen and saying, as in a recent broadcast, that he feared certain of them less than the "damn fools" who elected them, is by no means unique.

When we see this familiar technique employed in our day, perhaps we can understand why a Franklin, wise in the ways that liberty had been brought low in the past, counseled the people to be vigilant always in preserving the government that had been given them. When the sessions of the constitutional convention were over a lady asked Franklin, "Well, Doctor, what have we got, a republic or a monarchy?" "A republic," replied Franklin, "if you can keep it."

Editorial of the Day

FARM SYSTEM FOR DEMOCRATS.

[Daily Princetonian, Princeton, N. J.]

Prentiss Brown is working in Washington; Charles Poletti is working in Washington. So is Josh Lee and a host of other professional politicians who have only this in common: They are Democrats who at one time or another have been voted out of office by the electorate. Instead of returning to their law practices or grocery stores or factories they have moved into important posts in the administration of the war. Mr. Brown, ex-senator from Michigan, is price administrator; Mr. Lee, ex-senator from Oklahoma, is on the CAB; and Mr. Poletti, ex-governor of New York, is an assistant to Secretary of War Stimson.

It was basic in the opinion of the fathers of the Constitution that a man was to enter public life when his constituents saw fit to put him there, and only so long as he pleased his constituents was he to remain there. That is a good principle and it has served us well. Now, it seems, a new principle has evolved. It is that a term in the legislature is a mere interlude in the life of the professional politician, a warmup for a job with "the administration."

Something of this same spirit was apparent in the affairs of George Norris. The voters of Nebraska decided to dispense with his services last November and high ranking government officials had the eternal brass to criticize them for doing so. In such matters the power of censure has always resided with the voters and nowhere else. This is the fundament, the very essence of democracy, and must be kept inviolate.

Messrs. Brown, Poletti, and Lee, to cite three convenient examples, have fallen out of the public favor, yet they are retained in public service, indeed given increased power and immunity from ballot box criticism. It may be contended that they are capable and industrious. So are any number of men who have not been stigmatized and discredited by defeat in a democratic election. This is not the real issue, however. The real issue is that Mr. Brown is retained because he is popular with the skittish congressmen, Mr. Poletti because in the past he has proved himself a good vote getter.

Thus it would appear that the administration of the war, like congress itself, is an elaborate farm system for Democratic political hopefuls.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS TALKS IT OVER.

6th Feb.—"Heigh, ho, the snow, and the rain, and the ice, and the slush, and the freeze, and the slipperiness," I have been singing of late with a wry face, and if any inquiring reporter wants to interview me about the winter of 1942-'43 I can tell him things he will not be able to put into his paper. On account of it, got out my blunderbuss last Tuesday and said, since the sun was then shining, "I am going to shoot that so-and-so ground hog before he has a chance to dart back into his burrow."

Think the ground hog was mistaken in proclaiming six more weeks of winter. Figure because the season started a month too soon it will come to an early end, except for the usual March blizzard, when the snow will maybe be four feet deep.

Have been asked to eat a dinner of horse meat and make a report to the nation, since there is much talk about Dobbin as a source of food in the crisis. Have declined because I think the faithful drudge of the human race does not deserve to be eaten. No doubt his meat is good, because I have seen in France signs over stores saying "Boucherie Chevaline," which means horse meat butchershop, but I would place a taboo on it for sentimental reasons. My report on muskrat was not well received in Maryland, where the state game warden has denounced me, saying that my dish was not cooked as it should have been. My report on carp was lauded by Iowa, where the state conservation commission will reprint it.

Have been wondering if the President brought back from Africa a fez to wear at costume parties for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hopkins. When the news of the conference was fresh, I appeared among my colleagues wearing a red fez, saying, "I have just returned from Casablanca," and caused a small furor. It was a fine specimen of felted camel's hair purchased in Tangier by my printer, Paul Pferdner, who wears it when he has a cold.

And so another week bites the dust.

SCRIPTURE FOR CASTAWAYS.

If I take the wings of the morning
To the uttermost parts of the sea,
There Thy right hand shall uphold me,
Thy hand shall be leading me.
So sang the psalmist, David,
Some centuries ago;
And now, long ages after,
A nation comes to know
Of wing-borne, wave-worn castaways
Long lost on a far-off sea,
Proving thru faith in David's God
His deathless prophecy.

A Play in Few Words.

Scene: Hotel veranda of resort town in Mexico.

Dramatis personae: Two young pseudo-sophisticates, middle-aged pilgrim who has suffered long, policeman, tourists, waiters.

First P. S.—Are they ever corny! Can't even order in Spanish.

Second P. S.—Yeah, Spanish is a pushover!

M. A. P. [exploding]—It ought to be easy for you kids to learn a foreign language. I've been here two weeks and all I've heard you say was "O. K."; "O, definitely"; "Because after all"; "But I'm telling you it's really gorgeous—I mean it really is—I mean it's terrific"; "O. K."; "I should break out in a rash"; "O. K."

First P. S.—Is he ever corny!

Second P. S.—Definitely and how! Listen, ham, how would you express yourself?

M. A. P.—Thus! [Springs from chair, snatches pistol from belt of policeman and riddles both pseudo-sophisticates amid cheers and vivas from all present. Exeunt waiters carrying bodies to municipal dump.] Curtain. Tim.

THE MAN ON THE STREET.

So the Man on the Street's I. Q. 13?
"But, of course!" cry the sleek psychologists;
And by that they would have us believe they mean
He's in need of protective apologists,

When the truth is, he's no way so dumb by half,
Nor a quarter so reft of vision,
As the self-styled critics who loftily laugh
And treat him with such derision.

For the Man on the Street's doing more to win
This talked-about, squawked-about war,
And ready to take more clouts on the chin
Without asking "How come? What for?"

Than a dozen verbose propaganda guys
Who spoon him up slogans and trophies,
And yammer, and clamor, and hammer the skies
With their petulant screeds and strophes.

Give him credit—the plain, common Man on the Street—
For a job being done without fussing
That will really accomplish our foes' defeat
While the Solons stand 'round discussing!

TUBERCULOSIS OF THE SKIN.

THE most common form of tuberculosis of the skin is lupus vulgaris. The malady may appear in childhood and, unless checked, maintain its disfiguring rôle. When these lesions attack the face, much embarrassment may ensue. In fact, the outlook upon life may be changed because of the unsightly, scaly blemishes.

As a rule the disease begins as a single nodule, yellowish in shade, possibly in the region of the nostrils. The cause is the tubercle bacillus, and either the bovine or the human variety may be responsible. It usually progresses slowly and diagnosis is often difficult.

The trouble is that the victim complains but little and, if the area is small, nothing may be done about it. In other words, it may exist for years before its true nature is recognized. As soon as the disorder is identified, the diet should receive attention and include fresh fruits, cod liver oil, and a well balanced régime with plenty of vitamins.

Chemical caustics are rarely advised. They are so likely to result in unsightly scars that the remedy is often worse than the ailment. The ideal treatment is ultraviolet. This was demonstrated nearly two generations ago by Finsen and others. They discovered that exposing these sufferers to the light of the carbon arc would bring healing.

The most recent development, the Lomholt lamp, enables physicians to apply rays directly to the diseased cells. Lenses are provided which concentrate the particular wave lengths that have the greatest effect.

Another variety of this malady is scrofuloderma. Here the lymph channels beneath the cuticle may be involved and the overlying epidermis becomes purplish in shade. Swelling is followed by softening and, finally, a running sore. Other bacteria move into this well prepared soil and, in consequence, we have a mixed infection. The ulcers may persist unless hygienic and curative measures can be instituted promptly.

In many instances, the germ will be present in some other part of the body. It is important, therefore, to provide adequate nutrition and fresh air. Even tho actinic rays are employed faithfully, the condition may not yield unless resistance is built to the point where it will overcome the general infection.

Not infrequently, in searching for the causative organism, it will be found that some bony structure has been affected. Cases of this character may be encountered in orthopedic hospitals where patients come for relief from a deformity of tuberculous origin.

Finally we must consider wartlike growths which occur on the fingers and the backs of the hands. They will be noted now and then among farmers, butchers, nurses, and doctors. The safest plan to pursue is to excise each tiny tumor. X-ray treatments have met with success. Here again, the Lomholt lamp may be used.

While the very mention of the word "tuberculosis" calls to mind a disease of the lungs, we must not forget that the bovine type particularly can destroy the skin, the glands, the bones, and many other tissues.

UPSET DIGESTION.

Mrs. H. writes: How can I go about curing a sour stomach?

REPLY.

Relieve the indigestion or dyspepsia responsible. Adopt a balanced diet, eat slowly, masticate thoroly, and take a glass of water before each meal. If simple measures fail, see your physician without delay.

THEY ARE NUMEROUS.

S. T. D. writes: What are symptoms of undulant fever?

REPLY.

Chills, fever, and sweats. In addition, the patient complains of darting pains, indigestion, and weakness. The disease is confused frequently with influenza, typhoid, and malaria.

SURGERY REQUIRED.

A. B. writes: Is there any medicine that will dissolve polyps in the nose?

REPLY.

No. They occasionally disappear spontaneously after drainage from a diseased sinus has been established. When they persist, or are present in other parts of the body, surgery is usually advised.

PLIGHT OF SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—I believe I have a legitimate complaint against one of our "efficiently operated" units of city government. I am a substitute teacher and, as such, share the plight of thousands of others working for the Chicago board of education.

The substitute, after years of education, waits for an assignment. [The period of waiting is long, in my case nine years.] In the meantime, she works side by side with regular teachers, but receiving about one-half their pay, on an average of $21 a week the year round. She has no tenure, security, or pension rights, and waits from day to day for a call to work. Once called, she must adjust herself to a new teaching environment, cater to the whims of individual principals, and, worst of all, subdue and teach 50 wild children who consider the absence of the regular teacher a holiday and defy the sub, knowing she does not mark their cards.

Recently the board, faced with a war shortage, made an appeal to all substitutes to stay teaching instead of branching out to more lucrative fields. I was one who heeded this plea, resigned a good war job and returned to the board's flock. Am I satisfied? I should say not. At the war plant we were treated as individuals, given opportunities for advancement and, above all, were paid. I have worked for the board one month now and as yet have received no remuneration, altho the regular teachers were paid two weeks ago. What is wrong with the board's pay roll division? No wonder politically operated systems become cesspools of inefficiency. Smart people get out and leave dullards to carry on. A SUB.

SCOUTING.

New York, Feb. 2.—In preparation for a navy career we midshipmen are often asked what in our civilian background was the major contributing factor in acclimating ourselves to this new life. The answer is invariably the same from the barnacled old chiefs to the raw recruits—training as a Boy Scout or Sea Scout. Scouting has taught us more than the various lores, it has given us the standards by which we can live with our fellow men.

It is important, therefore, that such an organization carry on in these times. MIDSHIPMAN MARSHALL BLUMENTHAL.

ROLLS AND COFFEE.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—We merchants of South Water market would like to know who controls the prices of the restaurants that surround this place of business. What syndicate forces us to pay 14 cents for rolls and coffee, where off of our market they can be purchased for 10 to 11 cents? For lunch we have to pay 60 to 75 cents for something decent to eat, whereas off the market can be purchased from 40 to 45 cents. COMMISSION MERCHANT.

THE SEX OF LOST DOGS.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—It would be helpful if Tribune ad takers would advise advertisers of lost dogs to designate the sex of the animal. Having picked up hundreds of lost or strayed dogs over a period of many years, the time and expense involved in running to earth the advertiser to ascertain the sex of the dog in question has not been inconsiderable. It is more important to state sex than color. VIRGINIA DAVIS.

HOUSING FARM MACHINERY.

Delavan, Wis., Feb. 2.—Since my father is not here to reply to Mr. W. B. Jones in regard to this farm machinery question, may I state that he is not a "passing wiseacre" nor is he "ignorant of the facts." His farming experience goes back nearly 60 years and at present his acres are tilled by good machinery put under cover in a very good machine shed when not in actual use. This machine shed, costing about $600 normally, houses machinery worth between $2,000 and $3,000. We always will consider this a good investment. What Mr. Jones is not able to see is that a man who is careless about his tools in one respect is very likely to be careless in many, and if he is thoughtful enough to pack bearings with grease and paint oil on shiny surfaces he will also get the machine under cover to protect the wood parts from decay.

The fact that a farmer houses his machinery well does not in itself make him a good farmer, but all of our good farmers around here do make a noble attempt to conserve well what they have. BRUCE MCCLELLAN.

WANTS A CLOCK.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 2.—The need for material to produce war material has stopped the manufacture of alarm clocks. I never had occasion to use one before to get to work on time, but I am now a line superintendent of production in an ordnance plant and have to get up six mornings each week at 6 a. m. in order to get to the plant before the personnel arrive. I have been late to work several times because I have no alarm clock. It is impossible to buy one in Springfield, and I wonder if some citizen of Chicago, who owns an alarm clock and doesn't especially need it, would sell it to me? N. R. BUCKLEY.

ADD ONE KULAK AND STIR.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 4.—The following is from the trade organ of the World Publishing company of Cleveland, O.: ". . . and pass the propaganda—The Most for Your Money Cook Book, published by Modern Age Books, manages to insert a little left wing among the ingredients of its recipes:

"'Add luscious big chunks of crab put up by unexploited labor, come to us from the soviet union's clean northern waters of Kamchatka.'"

It would be good for Martin Dies to investigate all foreign propaganda in America. L. F. BAUMER.

STREET CAR WINDSHIELD WIPERS.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—When I ride a street car in a snow or rain storm, I notice that at frequent intervals the motorman must go out and clean off the windows. The motorman has the lives of many people on his hands. I think to speed up transportation, and for safety's sake, that street cars should be equipped with windshield wipers. STRAPHANGER.

WARPLANE DESIGNATIONS.

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 25.—American warplanes hereafter will be designated according to the English system of picturesque names, instead of the scientific system of letters and numbers. From the British we got stuck with a cumbersome and inefficient system of weights and measures, while foreign nations and scientists use the metric. We can never expect to become unshackled from it. But now in 1943 we are arbitrarily adopting another English system—that of designating warplanes. Now America has a Coronado and a Skytrain instead of a PB2Y and C-47. The latter designations compactly describe the type of plane and model, and with navy code the manufacturer. Now we have dramatic names for them obeying no system. J. A. MOSER.

PARADOX.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—We in America consider the teeming millions of India a backward people. Their burning ambition is Swaraj, or self-government. We consider ourselves the ultimate in civilization and wish to export to all and sundry peoples the type of government we have HAD, which is self-rule, altho as fast as we possibly can we are throwing it off for an autocratic despotism, which is approximately what the Indians now have! CAUSES FOR EVICTION.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I rent a small flat for which I have no lease. I have paid my rent regularly each month but my landlord has asked me to look for another flat. Will you please tell me how much time he should give me before he can put me out? J. S.

Under the rent ceiling regulations, he cannot put you out without some reason.

Restrictions are imposed on the previous arbitrary right of a landlord to evict a tenant at the end of an agreed term or on 30 days' notice in case tenancy is by the month. The landlord must now show as a reason for eviction:

[1] That a tenant under a written lease has refused to sign a renewal.

[2] The tenant has refused reasonable access to the landlord, provided the inspection is not contrary to the lease. [This leaves the question open when the lease is silent.]

[3] Violation by the tenant.

[4] The lease has expired and occupancy is by subtenants.

[5] The landlord seeks to demolish or substantially alter.

[6] The landlord seeks to use for himself, his family or dependents. In such case the premises must not be rented for six months. A purchaser of the landlord's interest must pay one-third of the price before he can put out the tenant. The eviction notice period on nonpayment of rent is now 10 days instead of five days. FUTURISTIC ART

Nancy Moulton to Be Airman's Bride in Spring

BY JUDITH CASS.

INTERESTING romantic news comes from Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks Moulton of Winnetka, who today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Brooks, to William Warren Owens, youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Owens of Sunfish Lake, St. Paul, Minn. In claiming a Winnetka girl as his bride-to-be Mr. Owens is following in the footsteps of his older brother, Dr. Owens Jr., whose wife is the former Lucy Trumbull. Mr. Owens was best man at that wedding and met his fiancé then.

The Owens-Moulton wedding will take place in the spring. Miss Moulton attended St. Mary's in the Mountains in Littleton, N. H.; New Trier High school, and Carleton college. At present she is working as a nurses' aid at St. Luke's hospital.

Mr. Owens is a graduate of St. Paul's academy and of the University of Minnesota, and attended Dartmouth college. He was engaged in business in Charlotte, N. C., until he entered the army air force in September. Now he is in Austin, Tex., instructing in blind flying. Miss Moulton may go to Texas at the end of the month. Mr. Owens has been accepted for an officers' candidate school but has not yet been called.

Mrs. Craig Colgate Jr. Being Welcomed Back.

Being welcomed back from New York is Mrs. Craig Colgate Jr., the former Barbara Hobart, who will be with her parents, the Ralph H. Hobarts in Winnetka, for the duration. Sergt. Colgate has left for duty overseas with the army. Mrs. Colgate's brother, John H. Hobart, still is awaiting his call into the army. His engagement to Miss Mary Ballard was announced in December.

The reunion that Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blossom Jr. and the John Rice Reillys had with their daughter and daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. Dunham Reilly, was a brief but welcome one. The former Louise Reilly, who accompanied her bridegroom to Honolulu two years ago when he was an ensign in the navy, has been here for two days and is leaving today to join her husband, now a senior grade lieutenant, at Norfolk. Going east with her is her sister, Mrs. G. Greeley Wells, who is bound for Quantico, Va., to join her husband, who is serving in the marines. The Blossoms' son, Douglas, left earlier in the week for his preflight training in the army air corps.

Plans Are Being Made for Valentine Parties.

Red hearts and cardboard cupids will be strung up at various clubs thruout the city next week-end, for a week from Sunday is Valentine's day and a signal for a round of party-going. The Arts club's buffet supper on the 14th will mark the first Chicago appearance of Jean Erdman and Merce Cunningham, talented young dancers who have toured the country for the past three seasons with the Martha Graham company. Following supper at 7:30 o'clock, the two guest artists will appear in a dance recital.

Mrs. Henry R. Gross is hard at work on plans for the Saddle and Cycle's Valentine dinner-dance, which will be given next Saturday at the club. The party will be a simple one in keeping with the times, and there will be a Dutch treat table for couples not having groups of their own. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson, the Thomas I. Underwoods, the Frederick Spencers, Mr. and Mrs. Gross, the John Roots, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Rogers, the Paget Cadys, the Theodore Garys, the Louis Sudlers, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stratford, and Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Van Alyea will be among the merrymakers.

The Chicago Yacht club is having two Valentine parties, one next Sunday, a buffet supper starting at 6 o'clock, the other tonight, when members and their guests will gather for a large Valentine dinner-dance.

Arthur A. Burrowses Jr. Giving Cocktails Today.

Their neighbors in Georgian court and Crilly court have been invited to cocktails this afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Burrows Jr. to meet Mr. Burrows' brother, George S. Burrows, who recently received Yale's $500 Patterson prize for the best thesis by a member of the class which was graduated in December from the university. The work will be published under the title, "The Builders of Chicago: An Intellectual History of the Wealthy Class in Chicago in the 1890s," but by the time it comes out its young author probably will be serving in the army. He is with his mother, Mrs. Clarence Mitchell, and Mr. Mitchell, in Lake Forest until he is called.

Miss Betty Peabody currently is representing the Peabody family in Lake Forest, for her mother, Mrs. Howard B. Peabody, has gone to Philadelphia with Mr. Peabody, who now is lieutenant in the naval reserve. Howard Peabody Jr. has been at sea with the merchant marine since last November. Miss Peabody is entertaining at dinner tonight for some friends who will spend the day skiing at Wilmot.

The 9th annual north shore badminton championships under the auspices of the North Shore Badminton association will be held at the Evanston Township High school gymnasium today and tomorrow. Teams from Evanston, Wilmette, Kenilworth, and Glencoe will compete. Among the badminton enthusiasts who are entertaining at cocktail parties today are the William C. Lenharts, the Philip Atwoods, and the Jack Flynns.

The Tavern club's special guest at a tallyho breakfast tomorrow, Gertrude Lawrence, will appear on an informal quiz program instead of making a conventional speech. Members and their guests are being invited to the breakfast to meet Miss Lawrence and other members of the cast of "Lady in the Dark."

Evanston Infant Welfare Service League Is Losing Member

Mrs. John W. Clarke is saying good-by to her fellow members of the Infant Welfare Service League of Evanston, for she and Mr. Clarke are moving to Washington, D. C., next Wednesday. Mrs. Clarke has been serving as board representative of the league to the Evanston Infant Welfare Junior auxiliary since the two organizations merged "for the duration" in January.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Girl and Her Job.

One evening this week a number of women who interview girls for prospective jobs sat at dinner together. The conversation dwelt on modern methods of interviewing—the pleasant, informal atmosphere provided, for example, by the telephone company where the young applicant need not feel ill at ease and uncomfortable. We talked of the advantage of trained interviewers and the value of tact and discernment on the part of the one who passes judgment on the job-seeker. But chiefly we spoke of the girl herself—the girl and her job.

"Who is the most likely prospect at present?" I asked. It's the girl with some one important to her in uniform. At least one company, with war contracts, specifies a wife, sister, or sweetheart of a fighting man when seeking new workers, for such an employé has something at stake—and well she knows it. The next most promising applicant is the one who especially wants to work for that particular company, because of associations or relatives or friends or good treatment accorded to employés she knows.

"Do you like to have girls apply two or three together?" I asked. No, this makes the problem more difficult when one is acceptable and one is not—as sometimes happens—such as the two sisters who applied together that morning.

"We try always," remarked one of the women, "to reject a girl [if we have to] in such a way that she has confidence to go after another job. But the most satisfactory rejection is when the girl does it herself, when she understands at the end of the interview that, for one reason or another, her abilities don't fit into the requirements—when she knows herself, without our telling her, that it just isn't her job."

Can't Somebody Stop Him?

"Your correspondent is not quite specific as to a 10 letter word written on one row of the typewriter. If she means what she says, TYPEWRITER itself is such a word, as are PROPRIETOR, REPERTOIRE, PROTOPTERI, and no doubt others which in a short and busy life I have not time to ferret out.

"If she doesn't mean this, but that each letter in the row is to be used once and only once—'more anon.'"—The Real Word Expert.

Teeny Wienie.

Gwendolyn Lamoreaux, "to show that big restaurants really have hearts for the white collar girl," hastens to tell of the Chicago ordnance district girls who "hurried into their favorite cafeteria and one asked for an order of wienies and potato salad. When the plate was handed to her she glanced at it and remarked half in earnest, half in fun, 'Only one wienie! Prices are certainly going up! Do you expect the hard working girl to survive on that?' The clerk smiled sympathetically and made no comment, but a man behind the counter who had authority and heard the plaint of the white collar girl motioned for her to return her plate and increased the order."

Meat Saving Recipes Win Honor Award

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Economy meat dishes and meatless recipes have received most of the honorable mention awards lately. That is as it should be if the contest mail is any indication of where the housewife's interest lies.

First on today's list is a recipe that's good to slice and fry the second day. Pack the leftovers into a bread loaf pan while still warm and let them chill to mold.

Barley with Pork Shoulder.

1½ pounds pork shoulder
2 large onions
Several whole allspice
1 teaspoon marjoram or sage
Salt to taste

Soak barley overnight in cold water to cover. Cook pork shoulder until tender in water to cover with chopped onions, allspice, and salt. When tender, cut meat from bone and chop fine. Add barley to meat stock gradually, and cook until tender, stirring frequently to prevent sticking. Add meat, marjoram, and salt to taste, and cook until heated thru. Serve hot first day and mold and slice to fry the second day. Or fry as hash on second day.

A little dried beef goes a long way with good results in this recipe.

Dried Beef in Corn Ring.

[Serves six.]

⅓ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
1¼ cups bread crumbs
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 egg, beaten
2 cups corn, drained
¾ cup grated American cheese
½ pound dried beef

Melt margarine and stir in flour to make a smooth paste. Add salt and 2 cups of milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Combine bread crumbs, onion, egg, and corn and add 1 cup of the thick cream sauce. Mix and put into a well buttered 8 inch ring mold and bake in moderate [350 degrees] oven for about half an hour or until firm. To remaining white sauce, add the cheese, the extra cup of milk; heat and blend. Scald the dried beef and add to sauce. Serve in corn ring.

Filled potato pancakes are a clever idea.

Filled Potato Pancakes.

[Serves four.]

½ pound ground meat [any kind]
2 tablespoons undiluted evaporated milk
1 tablespoon cracker meal
1¾ teaspoons salt
2 cups grated raw potatoes
1 onion, minced
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg
¼ cup cooking oil

Combine meat, milk, cracker meal, and ¾ teaspoon salt. Shape into 8 very thin, small patties. Cook well on both sides in hot oil. Mix together the potato, onion, pepper, flour, beaten egg, and remaining teaspoon of salt. Remove meat from skillet and brown pancakes in same fat, adding more if needed. To shape pancakes drop a spoonful of potato mixture in fat and top with a meat patty, then cover completely with another spoonful of potato mixture. Cook slowly until browned and turn carefully to cook other side. Be careful potato mixture is not too thick.

Good Morning!

Well, didn't this film get a break! All dressed up and ready for release right after the President's flight to Casablanca!

The piece is red blooded melodrama,, its scenes laid in the Moroccan city where gather refugees fleeing from Nazi Germany and frantically trying to get exit vises which are scarce as hens' teeth.

They wait, and wait, and wait, and most of them spend a large part of their time at Rick's Café Americain, owned by a strange and baffling character strangely and bafflingly portrayed by the hard-as-nails and greatly beloved Humphrey Bogart.

The murder of two German couriers carrying a pair of the greatly desired vises brings the Nazi officer, Maj. Strasser, to Casablanca. The murderer is apprehended—but not before he has passed the vises into Rick's keeping.

And now arrive Victor Laszlo, a leader of Europe's underground, and his wife. . . . It is not the first time Rick and the lovely Mme. Laszlo had met! Their one time association has potent bearing on succeeding events.

The picture has the sort of still suspense that characterizes Steinbeck's "The Moon Is Down." It has, at the same time, lots of lusty action. . . . Romantic episodes are both tender and electrical, and of humor there is—some.

Ingrid Bergman is a luscious heroine! Makes you think a little of Greer Garson in her gayer moments. Paul Henreid as the underground leader is magnetic in a sympathetic rôle. . . . Claude Rains, as a French captain whose sympathies do not jibe with his uniform of allegiance to Nazi rule, gives a grand performance.

See you tomorrow.

BY CECIL SMITH.

The approach of the week-end brought a capacity audience to the Studebaker theater last evening, to be regaled by the Boston Comic Opera company's only double bill—"Trial by Jury" and "H. M. S. Pinafore." On second thought, it is misleading to describe this coupling of two works as a double bill, for "Trial by Jury," in one act only 25 minutes long, served as no more than a curtain raiser to the main nautical business of the evening.

The second Gilbert and Sullivan collaboration, and the earliest one remaining in the repertory, "Trial by Jury" is good Sullivan but crude and primitive Gilbert. The librettist's parody of a breach of promise trial, in which every one is bowled over by the lovely defendant and refuses to hearken to the claims of the "ruffianly defendant," is broad and lacking in the subtlety he later acquired. Sullivan's music, on the other hand, is mature and amusing in its satiric mirroring of the 19th century Italian operatic ensemble style.

The crudity of Gilbert's play, however, cannot excuse last night's vulgarian performance, which ran slapstick into the ground and made no pretense at 1875 illusion, allowing the chorus to wear whatever modern street clothes they happened to possess. The whole production was about as good as that "Merry Widow" we had at Christmas time.

Both the management and the players considered "Pinafore" worthy of better efforts. This is the most extroverted comedy of the entire Gilbert and Sullivan list, and the participants heaved ho with a hearty will. While the uniforms were mussier than one would expect from the Queen's Navee when the first lord of the admiralty was scheduled to make a visit, at least the heterogeneous collection of males forming the Boston Comic Opera company's chorus appeared more at home vocationally than they had as noblemen in the previous night's "Iolanthe."

Florenz Ames played Sir Joseph Porter, the head of the navy who believed in a democratic attitude toward the sailors on the part of every one but himself, in the manner of a withered George Arliss. His spavined strut and his telling articulation of the words of his songs won him resounding and frequent laughs from the responsive audience.

Morton Bowe, in his first full sized rôle since the illness that kept him out of the casts earlier in the week, made an effective sailor hero, handling songs and dialog with discretion and taste. June Winters, as his sweetheart, was again reasonably winsome and very musicianly and again pinched the quality out of her voice. Catherine Judah's Buttercup was the best of the somewhat monotonous series of portraitures she has offered.

The Shoes Are Off the Horses and the Fodder's in the Shock.

[News item: The WPB urges farmers to take shoes off horses after work.]

By Donald Nelson Longfellow.

Under the spreading chestnut tree,
The village smithy stands.
The smith a busy man is he
With WPB commands.

His brow is wet with honest sweat;
He works both day and night;
He uses pails of horseshoe nails
To save steel for the fight.

He puts shoes on; he takes shoes off;
His forge gives many a spark.
The work he's done from sun to sun
He undoes after dark.

Each morn, before they start to work,
Each horse must be reshod.
The smith is there to save the wear
From the ground their feet have trod.

Each night with the day's labor o'er,
Beneath their stable roofs
They munch their oats like hapless shotes
And prance on barefoot hoofs.

A New York farmer, Harvard bred,
Decreed this to save shoes.
[They've sent the smith to Leavenworth
For asking: "What's the use?"]

Consolation?

The young man had just undergone a serious operation and had been brought down from the operating room. He was amazed, as he emerged from the anesthetic, to see on his bedside table a religious tract entitled "Our Bodies Are Worth Only 84 Cents."

And Time Is Fleeting.

Josephine Antoine, the opera star, learned this week that emotion can consume a great deal of time. When she was rehearsing here for a radio broadcast, two phrases from "Happy Birthday" were tapped into the program and were being timed. "Seven seconds," the control room announced over the loud speaker after the pianist had played the phrases. "Try it again, with feeling," the conductor suggested. The pianist tried again. "With feeling, nine seconds!" the control room boomed reproachful'y.

Gold Braid.

Mrs. Charles Edward Brown looked out her car window the other day and saw a man whom she took to be an admiral waiting miserably for a bus. "Can I give you a lift?" she asked. "Yes, indeed," the man said heartily. Mr. Brown climbed into the front seat with the chauffeur to make room for the admiral, and the admiral clambered gaily in with Mrs. Brown. He turned out to be the doorman at the Seneca hotel.

Overheard.

"Everybody talks about forgiving the taxes as if they were a major error," she was saying, "and I think maybe they are."

Carmen Amaya Troupe Offers Varied Program

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

It was an engaging coincidence that while Carmen Amaya was dancing the first of two Orchestra hall performances last night, just down the street at the Studebaker the Boston Opera company was playing "Pinafore." For to the best of my knowledge, Sir Joseph Porter of Gilbertian lyric is the only person who rivals Amaya's passion for traveling with relatives. Where Sir Joseph goes about accompanied by "his sisters, his cousins, and his aunts," Amaya has an equally imposing retinue of sisters, uncles, cousins, perhaps brothers and possibly in-laws. Almost the only "foreigner" in the outfit is Antonio Triana, stolen from Argentinita a couple of seasons ago as a partner whose teeth flash as gaily as his heels.

Now all the Amayas are valiant. Either they dance, or they play the guitar. They make it possible to build a show of conventional length which permits Carmen Amaya to appear so seldom you never get quite enough of her. And, of course, you don't notice too sharply that she is strictly limited in what she can do.

Amaya is the girl who contorts vocabularies so that usually quite innocent typewriters can find themselves referring to her as "a female blow torch." A slim, fiery little gypsy, she turns the flamenco into something so savage, so primitive, and so blazing that it looks downright dangerous. She can strike sparks with her glinting heels, like a wild pony, and she can come up out of a corkscrew turn like something soaked in brandy and set blazing. And all the while those purring castanets smoulder when you are positive they are a mere sheath for claws.

This is the way Amaya is a great dancer—when she is fierce, quarrelsome and primitive. When she danced "El Amor Brujo" with Triana, the stage almost smoked. When she danced Albeniz' "Cordoba" and her own style of "Alegrias," she was a furious and lovely sight. But when she clowned in "Ay! Que Tu," you could have her. Much as I like the flirt of the ruffled train, I can't take this gypsy when she tries to mugg her way into comedy by looking cross-eyed. Any more than I can take the facile Triana when he spoils the enchanting flirtation piece, "Enamorado," by taking an encore with false teeth for hokum.

But Triana in "Polo" is Triana at his best, a sleek, vivid figure spirited as a thorobred. The Amaya sisters and the perhaps cousin, who has the almost historic name of Lola Montes, danced prettily, and the Sabicas guitar was clean and shining in intricate pattern. The show has better costumes this year, but it could stand a dose of professional lighting and timing of numbers to eliminate long waits.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

North-South were using the Culbertson 4-5 no trump convention.

West opened the spade jack. Before playing from either hand, declarer counted his sure and potential tricks. Three spades, three hearts, and two diamonds were in sight, hence four tricks would have to be extracted from the club suit. Conceivably, of course, an extra diamond trick might be built by finding a 3-3 break, but this division of cards is unlikely, and in any case, declarer could not afford to give up a diamond trick before establishing clubs. Thus, the problem resolved itself down to the possibilities in the club suit.

There are several fairly logical methods of playing a club combination such as this. A great deal of analysis (far more than we have space for) is involved. The solution is this: Declarer should lead the club jack from his own hand, and unless West covers, should duck in dummy. If the jack loses, declarer should, upon regaining the lead, send the club 8 thru West and take another finesse against the 10 spot. This line will win if the break of cards is 4-2 and either honor is held by West, and it has the advantage of eliminating any guess on declarer's part.

If West covers the jack, dummy, of course, wins, but now declarer must not make the mistake of leading the other high honor. He cannot afford to play his own 8 spot on dummy's second honor. He must return to his hand and lead the 8 thru West, letting it ride if West does not play the 10.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 5.—One of David Selznick's activities will be an English picture starring Vivien Leigh and maybe Laurence Olivier. . . . Speaking of the latter, I found Orson Welles yesterday, 25 pounds thinner, with a new nose. Instead of a round, chubby face, it's now long and full of angles, like its owner. He looked for all the world like Olivier. Begosh, the boy's got glamor! Tells me his part in "Jane Eyre" is a ham's holiday. "After this, I can sit back on my laurels." "Well, that's what's worrying me, Orson—the idea of your only doing one thing at a time." "For your information, Hopper, I'm planning to make shorts for the coordinators' department of our government, which will keep me busy for some time."

Here She Comes.

New York can dust off that welcome mat. Anna Lee is due back there for two weeks—her first trip. She paused there only long enough to go from boat to catch a train west. And gosh! wouldn't I love to show her the old town—incidentally, get a look at it myself. . . . Mack Gordon was so anxious to see it he went A. W. O. L. from 20th, and now I'll be darned if he isn't on suspension. He'll probably write a tune something like this: "While taking a look at the Broadway dimout, my bank account was blitzed into a black-out." . . . Since Bette Davis sang "Dinah" with Kay Kyser's band, she's had an offer to sing in a New York night club.

Won't Be Long Now.

Alexis Smith won't give out with the date, but I have a hunch it will be during his furlough, because she and Craig Stevens were shopping for a wedding ring yesterday. . . . Ronnie Reagan's fan mail has doubled since he joined the army. His fans want to know why his wife, Jane Wyman, isn't back on the screen. Has she joined the army, too? . . . Metro's having more trouble. Just as the Lana Turner annulment goes thru, the Mickey Rooneys act up again, and this time call it a day for good. Let's hope so. . . . Helmut Dantine will soon get star rating at Warners. Lynne Baggett, from Dallas, Tex., is due for a big buildup there, too. He's young, good looking, and 4-F.

Ever Thus.

Humphrey Bogart is laughing at his lush treatment at Columbia. When he worked there 8 years ago, Harry Cohn got a look at the rushes, and came on the set and said, "You know, you're so ugly you ought to get some shut-eye at night and improve your appearance." "Now," says Bogey, "I'm even uglier and older. But with a little bit of success things are different. On the desert location, they not only furnished my wife and me with a house but a maid to go with it." . . . Priscilla Lane, wife of Lt. Joe Howard, still insists she'll come back only when a good part is dangled in front of her. She'd much rather live in her little bungalow at Victorville, happily married and doing her own housework, than have her heart broken all over again in those B pictures.

Thev've Arrived.

Dorothy Lamour and Bob Hope planted their footprints in forecourt of Chinese theater. They were as excited as Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland a couple of years back. When De Mille gave, a block of cement was brought over to him on the set by Sid Grauman, while he was deep in the heart of "Reap the Wild Wind." . . . Teresa Wright's working up to it—taking tap dancing lessons. Hoping to get the lead opposite Danny Kaye in his musical picture.

Army to Use W-G-N Studio for Broadcast on WAACS

W-G-N is lending its studio and technical facilities today for the second successive week to the 6th service command, United States army, for a WAAC program to be broadcast over a regional network in Wisconsin. Capt. Doris Epperson, director of the WAACs in the 6th service command, will speak on the broadcast at 2:30 p. m. today. Last Saturday Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding general, spoke on the program and expressed his appreciation to W-G-N for placing its facilities at the command of the army. Eleven Wisconsin stations carry these weekly programs.

Shops Are Full of Fresh Ideas for Valentines

BY REA SEEGER.

Do your sentimental shopping early while all the trick stuff is plentiful. In the jewelry collections you'll find all kinds of heart ideas, such as earrings made with a ruby red heart set with twinkling rhinestones. This heart design also is matched in clever chest pins or long slanting pins for a lapel pocket. One pin has three hearts, another a pair of hearts.

There's a clever pin-on watch of red enamel held by two gold hands. Other red enamel hearts have a lovers' knot brooch pin for anchoring the chest pocket or blouse. Bracelets made of a string of silver jingling hearts, each with a different design, make ideal Valentine offerings.

In the hosiery departments are found such practical and welcome Valentine gifts as three, six, or a dozen new rayon mesh stockings, tied with festive red bows and in heart shaped packages. Gloves, handkerchiefs, belts, all the bewitching new hat pins that glitter and shimmer so decoratively on small, otherwise plain hats, are other ideas that will appeal to any woman or girl on your lists. New flowers, frankly fake affairs, are unusually smart and crisp. So are effective accents for spring suits and coats. Sunshine yellow buttercups, zinnias, field flowers, pale green valley lilies, gardenias, and camellias are floral hints of valentines to wear until spring.

Also suitable is lingerie, from lace trimmed nightgowns to petticoats, in exquisite sheers, sets of nightgown and matching negligee, vivid lounging pajamas, flowered housecoats, or the new lace negligees in sapphire blue, tea rose pink, and ivory. And, of course, a new flowered hat, a feathered pillbox, a dashing, brimmed felt sports hat—all rate the most applause and approval this year when every one spurns fragile luxuries without a future of service.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

The Y. W. C. A. room registry, which three weeks ago established a new day and night housing service at the loop center, 59 East Monroe street, has been booming ever since as a "first aid" center for service men and their families. The registry, which formerly operated on a 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. schedule, is now open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. week days and from noon until 8 p. m. on Sundays. The enlarged service has been made possible thru the coöperation of the U. S. O., the Travelers Aid society, and the service men's centers.

To date around 75 per cent of the requests have come from soldiers and sailors and their wives, with light housekeeping rooms most frequently sought, according to Miss Hazel Watson, room registry director. She also said government bureaus send numbers of workers who have been transferred to Chicago and have great difficulty in finding living quarters.

Miss Watson appeals to any housewives who have kitchenette accommodations, even if those housewives are not in the room renting business, to offer those accommodations to service men's wives, as a patriotic service.

Miss Joan L. Garrity, a former medical technician, reported recently for basic training in the WAAC at Fort Des Moines, Ia. Miss Garrity, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Garrity, 1401 Arthur avenue, followed her brother, Sergt. William J., into service. Her mother is an active Red Cross worker and her father an OCD zone captain.

There will be a change in shifts Tuesday for Mrs. Frances Chabica of Berwyn and Mrs. Frances Kadnivik, 1058 Armitage avenue, employés at the River Forest and Throop street plants, respectively, of the Powers company, manufacturer of canvas good. They will receive for the war workers in the company's plants the army and navy's coveted "E" award for excellence in production. The presentation will be made in a 4:30 o'clock ceremony at the Paradise ballroom, 148 North Pulaski road.

Like most of the women at the plants, they operate power sewing machines, stitching seams in tents for men on the fighting fronts. Mrs. Queenie Gracey of Oak Park is another of them. She also works with a vengeance, for she has a husband and two brothers in the army. Mrs. Elizabeth LaBello of Oak Park, a fellow worker, has sons in the army, marine corps, and merchant marine. Another Oak Park war worker, Mrs. Lillian Sheets, has one son who is a Jap prisoner in China, another with the marines in the South Seas, and a third who has tried to enlist 30 times and still won't take no for an answer. The husband of Mrs. Jean Holbrook of Elmwood Park is a pilot in the R. A. F., and Mrs. Mary Katz, 6216 South Halsted street, has lent her husband and three sons to the services.

The first in a series of nine food lectures and demonstrations, sponsored by the American Women's Voluntary Services in coöperation with the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, will be held between 10 o'clock and noon Tuesday morning in the gas company's auditorium, 122 South Michigan avenue. Miss Martha Logan will speak on nonrationed meats. Sessions will be held each Tuesday and Friday morning ending on Tuesday, March 16. Well known home economists and meat authorities will address each of the gatherings, which are open to AWVS members and their guests.

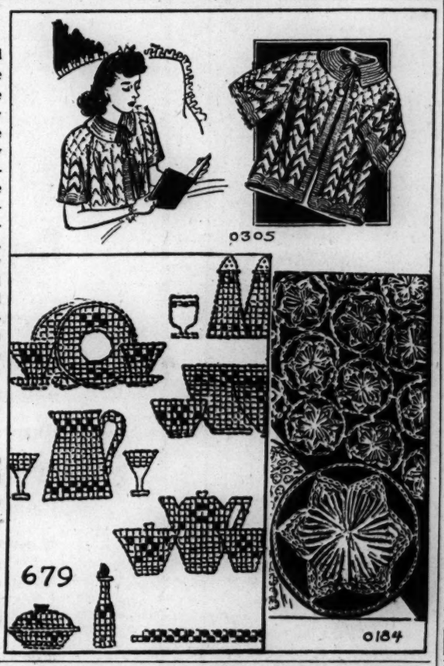
Needlework Patterns

BY JEAN MacDONALD.



Knitted bed jackets, on the order of 0305, are "musts" for every wardrobe. The pattern is easy to work up. Afghan, 0184, is one of the dainty—and easy-to-create floral designs. The flowers may be any desired colors arranged in rainbow fashion. The motifs in 679 are crisp and fresh as starched gingham and easy to embroider.

EACH pattern costs 10 cents. Send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Thru the Looking Glass

We hate to seem to harp on the subject, but in our beauty shop travels these days we see for ourselves and hear more from operators and managers on the need of what might be called "beauty shop manners."

There are obvious reasons in these times why service, the great American specialty, just isn't what it used to be. If you've done any train traveling recently you've seen for yourself why it is boorish beyond words to linger over your coffee. There are too many people to serve, and the kindly steward who used to light your cigaret with a smile is far too busy to do that now. In your own home, if your furnace, let's say, needs repair, you're lucky to have it done within a week. In your own office you've seen hitches in service.

Your beauty shop has exactly three problems today that it didn't have a year ago. It has more customers to take care of; more women working has meant more traffic in the beauty parlor. Help is a problem there as it is everywhere. Men have been called and many women have gone to defense jobs. Supplies don't come in the endless flow they once did.

You, as a customer, have a responsibility now more than ever to be on time for your appointments; to be fair, not fussy in your requests for service. And when and if there are hitches, remember that the shop, naturally, regrets them even more than you do. It's just good war time manners for all concerned to be coöperative.

Love Ever Glorious.

Across the years there has not been for me
Another who could take my trembling heart,
And thrill it with love's sweetest rhapsody
As you have done with such consummate art.
I treasure every smile, each word you say—
And every memory of you is sweet—
My life is incomplete when you're away,
When you are near you sweep me off my feet.
There is no part-time measure in this thing
That binds my heart to yours thruout all time,
For this is love whose golden arrows sting
With thrilling tenderness that is sublime.
Yes, this is love when every waking hour
I am aware of its enchanting power.

The Wake Depends Upon Its Friends. Help! Help!

Ten Years Ago Today—Northwestern won its fifth straight basketball game by defeating Indiana, 32 to 28. . . . Judge Walter Steffen, advisory coach at Carnegie Tech, turned down Chicago's offer of head coach. . . . Dean C. C. Williams resigned as chairman of the University of Iowa athletic board.

F.D.R. LAUGHS OFF ALL QUESTIONS ABOUT BASEBALL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—President Roosevelt withheld any definite answer today to press conference queries as to the future of professional baseball in the light of the war man power commission's attitude that draft age men in nondeferrable jobs should find war work or face induction. Last year he endorsed the idea of playing the game during war, but the 1943 season approaches with the prospects obscure.

Asked about the issue today he simply laughed, then commented that the matter had not come up in his mail yesterday. He said he had referred it to a committee of two—Presidential Secretaries Marvin H. McIntyre and Stephen Early, but had received no recommendation yet.

Still treating the subject lightly, the President said a minor league man had written him saying he could not keep his team going. The writer recommended that baseball be confined in the future to major leagues only.

Still smiling, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that since he did not know anything about the matter he had referred it to his secretaries.

ILLINI RENEW BIG 10 RACE; 4 GAMES TONIGHT

N. U., Purdue Play on Stadium Card.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While Indiana and Illinois, undefeated leaders in the Western conference basketball race, are carrying their battle of comparative scores to foreign courts, Camp Grant's Warriors will make their Stadium debut tonight against De Paul university. The opening game at 8:15 p. m. matches Northwestern and Purdue.

The fourth conference game tonight also will be played in Chicago with Minnesota invading the University of Chicago fieldhouse. Illinois opens a series this evening at Ohio State, which has been beaten twice by Indiana. The Hoosiers will start a series at Michigan, which lost the opening game of the campaign to Illinois.

The improved Purdue basketball team, which meets Northwestern in Chicago Stadium tonight, will be led by Capt. Allen Menke, who is fourth in the Big Ten scoring race.

On this comparative basis, few will doubt that Indiana and Illinois will still be tied after this week-end, despite Michigan's upset triumph over Wisconsin on the Wolverines' court. Indiana is seeking its 14th consecutive victory of the season and its seventh in conference competition. Illinois has won five Big Ten games and has been whipped only by Camp Grant this winter.

Hoosier Lineup Unchanged.

Coach Branch McCracken of Indiana will start the same team that defeated Purdue Monday night, altho Ward Williams, sophomore center, who has averaged 10 points a game in conference play, has a pulled leg muscle. Dick Wittenbraker, junior guard, will be assigned to guard Michigan's center, Jim Mandler, around whom the Wolverines center their attack.

While Illinois also will start its regulars, the squad has been reinforced by Cliff Fulton, junior guard, who became eligible at the start of the second semester. Fulton is 6 feet 2 inches tall and fits into a squad noted for its height advantage.

Purdue, Minnesota Tied.

Purdue now is tied with Minnesota in fourth place in the Big Ten with three victories and three defeats. The Gophers are certain to win from Chicago's hapless Maroons, altho Chicago's last conference victory was at Minnesota's expense three years ago. If Purdue and Minnesota win tonight, they will share third place and pass Wisconsin. The Badgers have a return game with Great Lakes this evening in Madison.

This is Purdue's second trip to the Stadium. The Boilermakers were beaten by De Paul in the first of the double header programs. Coach Ward Lambert now has an improved starting team. It includes sophomore forwards, Max Biggs and Paul Friend. The latter has a high mark of 19 points in the first half of the second Ohio State game. Capt. Al Menke, Purdue center, currently is fourth in the conference scoring race.

Last night Camp Grant beat Loyola, 46 to 33, in Rockford, for its 22d victory in 23 games this season.

ROBINSON LOSES; JACK BEATS ZIVIC

La Motta Upsets Harlem Slugger in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 5 (AP).—Jake La Motta, knocking his foe thru the ropes for a nine count in the eighth round, handed Ray Robinson his first defeat in 130 fights by scoring a 10 round decision tonight before a record crowd of 18,390 in Olympia stadium. La Motta weighed 160½ pounds for a 16 pound advantage.

In an upset unequaled in years, La Motta, a 3 to 1 underdog, just up from preliminary ranks, gained the unanimous decision of Referee Sam Hennessy and the two judges.

Late in the eighth round La Motta hammered Robinson with a right to the body and followed with a left to the head that drove the previously undefeated pride of Harlem thru the ropes onto the ring apron. The bell rang just as the knockdown timekeeper's hammer was coming down for ten.

The overflow crowd, largest indoor turnout in Michigan boxing history, paid $50,000. Of this amount, Robinson drew some $15,000.

FRITZIE LOSES THRU FOUL.

New York, Feb. 5 (AP).—A body punch that apparently only the referee thought was foul gave Beau Jack a 10 round decision over Fritzie Zivic tonight and churned up one of the wildest demonstrations seen in Madison Square Garden in years. Jack weighed 137¼; Zivic, 145¼.

The blow came in the eighth round of a roaring brawl, and when Referee Young Otto called it "low" and penalized the Pittsburgh veteran with loss of the round, the boos that rolled down from a near capacity house lasted well into the ninth round.

At the finish the Associated Press score card gave Jack five rounds, including the eighth, Zivic had four, and one was even. The attendance was announced as 21,240 and the receipts were $70,291.

GOLDEN GLOVES WINNERS AWAIT ALL-CITY MEET

North Siders Select Strong Team.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The north side has its Golden Gloves champions—and what a hard hitting crew these fellows turned out to be! They showed hitting power, boxing skill, stamina and gameness galore as they smashed their way thru the third consecutive evening of fighting last night in Loyola gymnasium.

Sixteen open division fighters and 16 novices took sectional titles. This resolute band now faces the south side's team for Chicago championships. The clash will occur next Thursday in the Armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue. The caliber of both teams indicates that this will be one of the most evenly contested city finals of many seasons.

The champions are:

OPEN DIVISION.

112 POUNDS—James Saranella, unattached.
118 POUNDS—Richard Roche, Navy Pier.
126 POUNDS—John Bratton, Savoy A. C.
135 POUNDS—Tim Dalton, Madison A. C.
147 POUNDS—Horace Wilkins, Savoy A. C.
160 POUNDS—Michael Birskovich, Navy Pier.
175 POUNDS—Joe Lindsay, C. Y. O.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Russ Fitzsimmons, Navy Pier.

NOVICE DIVISION.

112 POUNDS—Art Magevas, C. Y. O.
118 POUNDS—Samuel Johnson, C. Y. O.
126 POUNDS—Lewis Kick, Libertyville Boxing club.
135 POUNDS—Donald Crilly, unattached.
147 POUNDS—Alfred Preslinger, C. Y. O.
160 POUNDS—Tom Reilly, C. Y. O.
175 POUNDS—Raul Diez, Navy Pier.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Irving Cagan, Ringside gym.

Fitzsimmons Flattens Brown.

The high point of last night's show occurred when Russ Fitzsimmons a huge gob from Navy Pier, knocked the colored behemoth, Dave Brown of Ringside gymnasium, right thru the ropes and onto the floor in the second round of heavyweight open final. Up to that time Brown had been getting rather the best of it. He climbed back into the ring at the count of 10 but Fitzsimmons never let up on him thereafter.

A tremendous right to the head sent Brown staggering to the ropes in the third. The sailor tried desperately for a knockout, but Brown, tho groggy, refused to drop. The Negro was hanging on repeatedly from there in, but he lasted to the final bell, after which the decision and title went to Fitzsimmons.

Sailor Whips Sailor.

Two of the outstanding fighters of the tournament—Tim Dalton of the Madison A. C. and Stanley Berg of Ringside gymnasium—clashed for the lightweight open championship. Dalton, taking the offensive from the first bell, lashed out with sharp left jabs and hard rights. Thruout the bout he held the upperhand to gain a clear decision.

Michael Birskovich and Edward Werner, both from Navy pier, fought like a pair of sailors enjoying shore leave after six months of submarine duty. In their middleweight Open final bout they slugged each other from one set of ropes to another. They rolled in and out of the corners, pummeled each other around in circles, and acted as tho they were having more fun than the fans. After three rounds of this free style walloping, the decision and the 160 pound championship went to Birskovich.

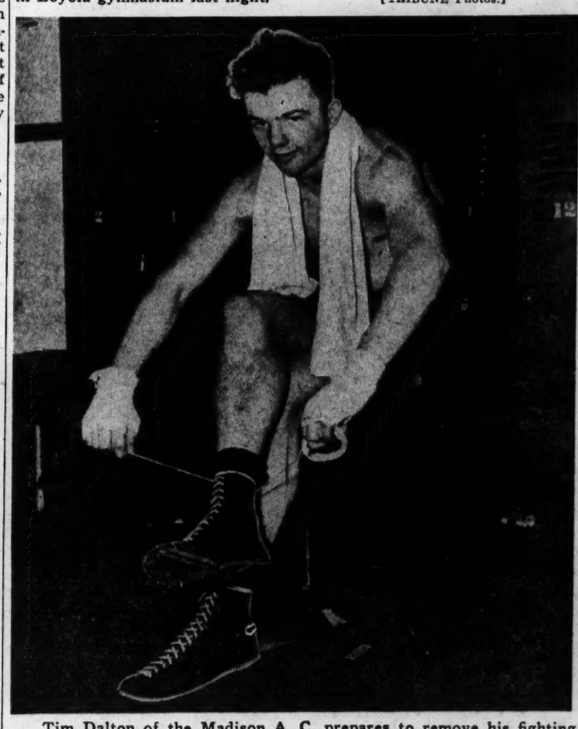
Warner Loses by Default.

Jimmy Warner of the Glenview naval air base, reached the lightweight novice finals by beating the rugged Robert Dean of the C. Y. O. It turned out to be too busy a day for Warner, however. It was learned that he had boxed in the late afternoon in a team match at the 87th Street Naval Training station, so Dr. William Rothman, head of the Golden Gloves medical staff, refused the boy permission to go in the ring for a third time in one day. Accordingly, the lightweight novice championship went to Donald Crilly, the other finalist, by default.

John Bratton of the Savoy A. C. unleashed some particularly heavy punches in the early stages of his featherweight open final with Joe Wilkerson of Navy Pier. A right to the body put the sailor on the canvas for a short count in the first. Then, in the second, a left to the jaw jarred Wilkerson momentarily and he slipped to the floor, but was up without a count. The sailor came back strong in the third and got in quite a few good wallops of his own but his adversary already had too great a margin so the title went to Bratton.

MEET PAIR OF CHAMPS

Lt. Jim McMillen, athletic officer at Navy Pier, congratulates Mike Birskovich, also of the Pier, following his victory over Sailor Edward Werner in the 160 pound open division Golden Gloves championship bout in Loyola gymnasium last night. [TRIBUNE Photos.]



Tim Dalton of the Madison A. C. prepares to remove his fighting shoes. Tim won the north side 135 pound open title by whipping Stanley Berg of the Ringside gymnasium.

Jeffers' Edict Blow to Turf Fans.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—The problem of transportation and rubber today provided a new wartime headache for racing, which apparently had escaped the effects of earlier man power edicts, but most major tracks seemed capable of operating this summer unless more drastic restrictions are imposed.

Following the shutdown of the Bay Meadows race track, California's last operating horse park, in order to conserve rubber, Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers announced today he is asking the governors of all states which house racing to cancel meetings at all tracks whose location makes it necessary to travel to them by automobile.

Many Tracks Must Close.

The immediate effects found the ax swinging closer to racing for this year, but not close enough to forecast a major shutdown, altho such Ohio tracks as River Downs, Thistle Downs and Ascot and Fairmount in Illinois just about gave up hopes of running and dark clouds were foreseen for Saratoga in New York, Garden State in New Jersey, Delaware Park, Rockingham in New Hampshire, and Keeneland in Kentucky.

In most cases, however, it was pointed out that available street car, subway and rail transportation was sufficient to permit tracks to operate in many places, such as New York, Chicago, Baltimore, and Louisville, altho all are looking for curtailed crowds.

Fears Effect on Morale.

However, Jeffers pointed out that in addition to the rubber actually used up to take fans to race tracks—"a purpose in no way essential to the war effort"—there was also another complication. This, he asserted, was the psychological reaction operation of a track would have on the public.

"Knowledge that the track [Bay Meadows] is operating," he pointed out in the letter to Gov. Earl Warren of California which led Bay Meadows to cancel its meeting, "will give the public the impression that there is no reason to worry about tires, which is very far from the truth."

If this idea were carried out to tracks in all sections of the country, it would, naturally, force much more of a shutdown than is already in prospect, since all track operators have pledged themselves to the best interests of winning the war.

A Blow to Bettors.

But Jeffers' request to the chief executives of racing states immediately hit the sport of kings—and the two dollar bettor—far harder than the work or fight edict of Man Power Commissioner Paul McNutt. This ruling, imposing a serious problem on most other sports, didn't figure to bother the turf much, because its riding talent is easily replaced by youngsters under 18 or men over 38.

Jeffers' letter to California's governor was his first request to shut down tracks where automobile transportation is required for racegoers. William P. Kyne, Bay Meadows manager, informed by Gov. Warren of the request, immediately agreed to cancel the track's 50 day meeting, scheduled to open Feb. 20 at the track 20 miles from San Francisco. "We'll go along with the request," he wired Jeffers.

Dewey Gets First Request.

The reaction to this plea was so immediate that Jeffers today disclosed he was following it up with similar requests to all governors of racing states. The first of these will go to New York's new chief executive, Thomas E. Dewey.

Of New York's five tracks, however, only one—Saratoga—would be seriously affected.

Chicago Turf Chiefs Ready; Await Orders

Members of the recently formed Illinois Turf association, embracing Lincoln Fields, Washington Park, Arlington Park, Sportsman's Park, and Hawthorne, will await developments on the problem created by Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers' message asking that the various governors prohibit race meetings at tracks for which regular local transportation is not available.

Matt Winn, owner of Lincoln Fields, while not surprised at the rubber saving edict from Washington, declared that the answer, so far as Illinois tracks are concerned, would come from Gov. Dwight Green.

Winn pointed out that racing in Chicago does not open until May, hence there is no necessity of immediate panic.

"We'll wait and see what the governor asks," said John D. Jackson, general manager of Arlington and Washington Parks. "It's our purpose to fall in line with whatever is for the best interests of the nation. Naturally we think racing has a part in the scheme of things and can be helpful in raising revenue for the government and for relief purposes."

Anticipating that curtailment of the use of automobiles would pose a problem for some tracks, the operators of Chicago tracks recently discussed the possibilities of having to abandon temporarily remotely located plants and confine all the scheduled meetings to one. However, definite action was withheld to await eventualities.

Warmerdam and Rice Head Millrose Field

New York, Feb. 5 (AP).—Greg Rice, Gilbert Dodds, and Cornelius Warmerdam, three of the biggest drawing cards of the 1942 track season, will be back tomorrow night to help start the 1943 board track campaign in the 36th annual Millrose A. A. games.

Rice, unbeaten in 56 consecutive races since February, 1940, and holder of the world indoor two mile record of 8:51.1, will make his first start since he pulled a tendon last October. But for that injury he would be a prohibitive favorite to win the Millrose two mile for the third consecutive year.

Faces Hunter and Wilt.

Rice may get some real competition from his Notre Dame successor, Oliver Hunter. Fred Wilt of Indiana, George De George, New York veteran; Leo Casey of Manhattan, and Chief Petty Officer Tom Quinn of the Notre Dame Midshipmen's school.

Dodds heads the field in the Wanamaker mile. He will compete against Ensign Walter Mehl of the Iowa Naval Pre-Flight school, winner of the race in 1941; Frank Dixon, New York university freshman; Earl Mitchell of Indiana, Don Burnham of Dartmouth, Leroy Schwarzkopf of Yale, and Jim Rafferty of the New York A. C.

Eddleman to Jump.

Warmerdam, the world's only 15 foot pole vaulter, will be making one of his few eastern appearances of the season when he goes against Richmond Morcom of New Hampshire and Jack Defield of Minnesota, the two top ranking college vaulters.

Illinois will send its great freshman high jumper and basketball star, Dwight Eddleman.

Oak Park Trackmen Beat Evanston, Du Sable

Oak Park won its second indoor track meet by taking a triangular event from Evanston and Du Sable in frosh-soph and senior divisions last night in the Oak Park fieldhouse. In the frosh-soph division Oak Park had 78, Evanston 13, and Du Sable 6, while in the senior Oak Park had 88, Evanston 20, and Du Sable 11.

Illini of Chicago Beat George Williams, 48-38

The Chicago Department of the University of Illinois defeated George Williams college in a basketball game last night, 48 to 38, on the victor's court. Illinois led, 22 to 17, at the half. Carl Pruett, forward, paced the Illinois attack with 15 points but yielded scoring honors to Royce Boaz of George Williams who made 19.

ROSENTHAL TO NEWARK.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 5 (AP).—Kansas City baseball American association club exchanged Outfielder Larry Rosenthal to Newark of the International league for Outfielder Lloyd Christopher.

The Parker juniors edged out Hyde Park, 33 to 32, for their sixth south section victory in seven games. The senior contest ended in a 28 to 28 overtime tie. The regulation game ended 25 to 25.

Marshall tightened its grip on third place in the west section senior division by defeating McKinley, 48 to 26, on the latter's floor.

RAILROAD WAGE CASE DEVELOPS INTO MAJOR TEST ON INFLATION

F. D. R. Procedure Rule Gives Labor Initial Victory.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Railway labor won at least a tactical victory yesterday when President Roosevelt ordered that the increased wage demands of nearly a million employés be decided by a mediation panel, as heretofore, and not directly by the war labor board.

This is the procedure sought by the rail employés and opposed by management and WLB in a jurisdictional contest that arose after the various unions began formulating and presenting their wage demands under existing machinery for settling railroad pay disputes.

The carriers had insisted that WLB should handle rail wage questions to assure national uniformity on wage policies, which presumably has been a government goal since WLB made its "Little Steel" award of last summer a yardstick for granting or refusing raises sought by employés in other industries.

Foresee Pay Hike Cycle.

The steel employés were given a 15 per cent increase over wage levels as of Jan. 1, 1941. Another cycle of wage boosts may be started if the 15 per cent formula is altered substantially in favor of labor, according to general industrial opinion.

Determination of the rail issue "will probably settle the question as to whether inflation comes," said a statement issued by management representatives handling the wage requests of 15 unions—H. A. Enochs, representing eastern roads; J. B. Parrish, for southeastern lines, and D. P. Loomis, representing western carriers.

"The group of nearly a million railroad employés involved in this issue has already had more than a 15 per cent wage increase since Jan. 1, 1941," they said. "It now seeks an additional increase of 20 cents per hour. If granted, this would mean a total increase of more than 45 per cent over the Jan. 1, 1941 base.

"Must Set Pattern for All."

"Determination of this issue must necessarily set the pattern for every wage increase request in all industries hereafter to be presented to a government board."

Under the Presidential order, an emergency board of three will hear rail wage demands and file a report with the President as heretofore provided, with the additional proviso that the economic stabilization director, James F. Byrnes, may modify it within 30 days.

Copies of the report are to go to the war labor board and the commissioner of internal revenue who presumably would confer with Byrnes if the emergency board's recommendations conflicted with established wage and salary stabilization policies.

Dr. William M. Leiserson, chairman of the permanent railway panel, is charged with the duty of appointing three members of that panel of nine as the emergency board.

HIGHER RAIL RATE NEED SUPPORTED BY B. & O. CHIEF

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—R. B. White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, told the interstate commerce commission today a continuation of rail rate increases granted last spring is necessary if the carriers are to continue their present standard of war service.

R. B. White.

He testified at a hearing on petitions filed by government agencies and several business associations asking that the ICC rescind the increases authorized to cover wage raises granted to rail employés. The rate increases, it is contended, contribute to an inflation trend.

Speaking on behalf of eastern railroads, White not only defended the increases averaging 6 per cent on freight and 10 per cent on passenger fares but said that if operating costs continue to soar it would be in the public interest to raise rail rates further.

Costs and Debt Stressed.

White, describing war problems, said additional costs had resulted from movement of oil to the east and contended many expenses necessary now are for equipment which would have little except scrap value after the war.

The necessity for continuation of the higher rail rates, he said, rests on the need not only for maintenance and efficient operation, but to retire debts.

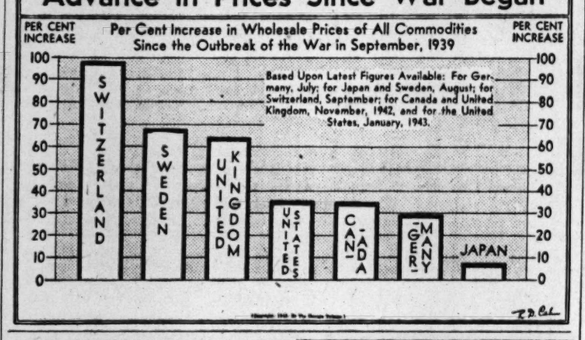
"Over the past 10 year period," he said, "railroad earnings have not been sufficient to enable management to do many of the things that would otherwise have been done in improving plant to enable the roads to perform better service to the public."

Analyzes Earnings Gain.

Dr. Julius H. Parmelee, director of the association of American Railroads economics bureau, told the commission the carriers would have earned only 70 million dollars more in 1942 than in 1941, despite a huge increase in traffic, if present levels of prices, taxes, and depreciation had been in effect thruout the year. As it was, net earnings were 960 millions, compared with 500 million, he said, altho they handled one-third more freight and 80 per cent more passengers.

J. L. Beven, Chicago, president of the Illinois Central system, testified that nearly 85 per cent of the net income of his road in 1941 and 1942 was devoted to improvements in physical equipment and in debt retirement. If the system is to keep meeting the needs of war and public service, he said, it would have to keep on spending money for new equipment and replacements.

Advance in Prices Since War Began



WLB Majority Charged with Shirking Duty

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—Employer members of the war labor board in a minority opinion criticized the majority today for "virtually abdicating its plain responsibilities" in sending back for further negotiation a dispute involving four Great Lakes ore carriers and the CIO National Maritime union.

The decision, announced two days ago, granted a $22 monthly pay increase, and directed the parties to negotiate union security and two other issues and to return to the board by Feb. 23 unless a later date is mutually agreeable.

"Preferential Hiring" Fought.

The most controversial issue was "preferential hiring," which a mediation panel unanimously recommended and the companies vigorously protested as imposing a hiring hall and minimizing merit in hiring. The companies are Interstate Steamship and Bethlehem Transportation, Cleveland, and International Harvester and Inland Steel, Chicago.

"The constitution of this board provides: 'After it takes jurisdiction, the board shall finally determine the dispute,'" said the dissent. "The order entered in this case postpones settlement when the time remaining before opening of the Great Lakes to navigation is all too short.

"Should Act Swiftly."

"The fact is that this is preëminently the kind of case in which we should act swiftly and surely. What the board has done here puts the heart of our war program in jeopardy."

The dissent was signed by Robert F. Black, Cyrus Ching, and F. S. Fales. They said the case indirectly affects the entire ore transportation industry on the Great Lakes and expressed fear that "the precedent established here will be felt thruout the industry and may lead to dissatisfaction and friction which could handicap the tremendous efforts being planned for the 1943 season."

The majority opinion held that "the gigantic task ahead of these parties will not be facilitated by a ruling which would merely dispose of pending issues by continuing past practices developed in the absence of collective bargaining." It urged "a solution by mutual agreement."

UNITED AIR LINES PAYS DIVIDEND OF 50 CENTS, FIRST VOTED SINCE '36

Directors of the United Air Lines Transport corporation, Chicago, yesterday declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the capital stock, the first since an initial disbursement of 20 cents a share in December, 1936. President W. A. Patterson said the payment was a result of "increased commercial, passenger, mail and express traffic during 1942."

Directors of W. A. Sheaffer Pen company, Fort Madison, Ia., declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a common share, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a common share.

Directors of Chicago Daily News, Inc., voted a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, the first authorized since December, 1941.

Steels, Motors Lead Stocks to Higher Ground

New York, Feb. 5 (AP).—Prime industrials, led by steels, motors, and specialties, stemmed the stock market decline today by pushing up fractions to a point or more, a number to new tops for more than a year.

The move was far from unanimous, however, with rails, utilities, and aircrafts performing listlessly. The shift was selectively upward at the start. Peak prices were reached around noon. Leaders were under their highest in many cases at the close and losses were well distributed.

The brightening Russian war news was offset to some extent by lack of information regarding developments in the Solomons, but the fact offerings on the recent selloff were unusually light led to bidding here and there.

BOND RANGE NARROW.

New York, Feb. 5 (AP).—The bond market had a moderate number of advances today but corporate price changes were narrow and uncertain. Heavy trading was done in a few low priced rails, but without producing much change in price.

United States government issues were quiet but steady.

CHICAGO STOCKS GAIN.

Prices were higher in more active traiding on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, fractional advances carrying 22 issues to new 1942-'43 highs. They included Electric Household Utilities, Loudon Packing, and Standard Dredging. Chicago corporation, the most active issue on a turnover of 8,600 shares, also set a new peak, but closed unchanged.

SPRING MARKET SALES PASS RECORD HIGHS ESTABLISHED IN 1942

All trade shows taking part in Chicago spring market week, sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce, exceeded the 1942 sales records, the association announced yesterday. It said the results indicated that retailers attending the event, which closes today, were stocking up consumer goods.

The Chicago gift show at the Palmer House reported orders in a one week period practically doubled the total of a two week period a year ago. Manufacturers of 5 cents to $1 merchandise, also exhibiting at the Palmer House, reported sales increases ranging from 35 to 65 per cent.

TRUCKING CRISIS BELIEVED NEAR IN CHICAGOLAND

Committee Formed to End Delays.

Likelihood of a crisis in the truck transportation of war freight in Chicagoland was indicated in two developments yesterday. These were:

Walter E. McCarron.

1. Spokesmen for the army, interstate commerce commission, office of defense transportation, and Chicago Association of Commerce met in Chicago and announced formation of a special vigilance committee to halt unloading delays and other wasteful uses of truck equipment. The association said the groups were "alarmed by a shortage of motor freight equipment in the Chicago area and the danger of delays in the shipment of munitions and other war material.

2. Walter E. McCarron, general manager of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators' association, warned that the trucking industry will break down unless the war man power commission and local draft boards give highway and specialized truck drivers exemptions to keep them at their wheels.

Causes of Equipment Shortage.

In announcing formation of the vigilance committee, the commerce association said that a lack of coördinated arrangements between shippers and carriers, and failure of shippers to load and unload promptly, caused the equipment shortage.

The conferees reported, the association said, that the efficiency of trucking companies could be increased at least 20 per cent if shippers and haulers would coöperate more. A joint carrier-shipper committee will do the vigilance work. It will review complaints of delay, and require carriers and shippers to keep records of vehicle movements. Truck operators will be required to report all delays of more than two hours. The commerce association will handle the reports.

Numerous large shipper representatives attending the meeting pledged support of the program and named a committee to meet with carrier spokesmen Monday.

Speakers at yesterday's meeting were Harry L. Gormley, ODT regional director; Col. Dan Hardt of the army transportation corps; Frank Purse, district director of the ICC bureau of motor carriers, and Arthur H. Schweitert, commerce association traffic director.

Compared with Rail Engineers.

McCarron urged that truck drivers be given the same draft exemptions as locomotive engineers, to whom he compared drivers of tractor-semitrailer combinations and heavy trucks. He said draft boards were not aware of the skill required to drive such trucks.

"The trucking industry is heading for collapse unless the man power commission and selective service officials grasp the importance of the job motor transportation is doing," McCarron said.

Drafting of drivers has caused many delays in war shipments, he asserted.

Private Transport System Vital to Free Nation, Says Pettengill

America's transportation system—rail, truck, air—must be kept in private hands if the nation is to maintain the system of free enterprise which made it the first nation in the world, Samuel B. Pettengill, former Indiana congressman, yesterday told leading Chicago business executives at the Chicago club. He is now a Chicagoan by virtue of his election as vice president and general counsel of the Transportation Association of America.

Pettengill said that the first move leaders of the Fascist nations made in their march to power was to seize the transportation systems of their respective countries.

Would Lead to Further Steps.

He said that if the government took over the railroads and truck lines, for example, it would buy all the locomotives and trucks required to run them. From there it would be a natural step to take over the manufacturers of locomotives and trucks.

He also criticized the "new philosophy of government" under which one department attacks another as in the current effort of price stabilization agencies to have the interstate commerce commission rescind rail rate increases. He said profit from these rates might help meet post-war problems.

Calls For End of Illusion.

Pettengill said it would be well for the supporters of private enterprise if they could destroy the illusion created by the New Deal that Americans were getting rich out of the war because a lot of money was changing hands. He called an illusion the belief that government can make wealth by deficit spending and by printing new money.

"The New Deal talks of 150 billions as income whereas it is actually all outgo," he said. "When you deal with the government all you get are pieces of paper whereas when one farmer, for example, trades his peaches for another's apples he is at least getting some apples."

Meat Dealers Ask Relief, but Get Lectured

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—A group of more than 40 independent meat packers and wholesalers today sought relief from the office of price administration rulings which they said threatened to force them out of business.

OPA officials took no action on their request, made at an all day conference, but lectured them instead on "black market operations" and the "raising of smoke screens" about the meat shortage.

Assails Meat Dealers.

The meeting was closed to the press, but according to an OPA announcement, Jerome Jacobson, OPA attorney on meat prices, told the meat dealers that "some meat sellers have sought and are seeking an immunity for their illegal actions by beclouding the problems of the meat shortage and in raising a smoke screen of destructive motives."

"The black market operator and the meat speculator," Jacobson declared, "are appealing for public sympathy so that they may avoid the consequences of their misdoings while they continue to fleece the public."

These outbursts were little consolation to packers and wholesalers who either cannot get meat under OPA ceilings or can handle it only at a loss.

Ask Equalized Ceilings.

Spokesmen for the independent wholesalers told OPA that if price ceilings were equalized they might be able to resume their purchases from the packers, halted thru inequalities. At the same time, they requested that ceilings at which independent wholesalers sell their meat to retailers be raised to compensate for the proposed increase in buying prices. OPA officials said this would upset its plans for uniform retail price controls.

Small meat packers asked OPA to place ceiling prices on live cattle. Charles M. Elkinton, price executive for the OPA meat section, said OPA has not "closed its mind" on the question of placing ceilings on live animals. He said a regulation to control live hog prices has been drawn up and that the control of cattle prices is also being studied.

CONFIRM NEW POWER FOR WILSON IN WPB; REPORT DISSENTION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5 (AP).—WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson tonight issued administrative orders officially conferring on Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric company, the expanded powers announced yesterday. Wilson was made responsible for "all production activities" of WPB.

Reports persisted, meanwhile, that supporters of WPB Vice Chairman Ferdinand Eberstadt—who lost seven key divisions to Wilson in the shuffle—were considering resigning. One high official described WPB as a "house divided against itself." There was no indication Eberstadt himself intended to leave. An associate quoted Nelson as declaring "I'll accept any resignations that come in."

The administrative orders, reportedly held up many weeks, announced the units were transferred to Wilson intact. His jurisdiction over "all production activities," it was stated, does not extend to production of raw materials, except those handled by the aluminum and magnesium division.

RESERVE BANK RESEARCH MEN MAP BOND DRIVE

Chicago Parley Will Gather Quota Data.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

Twenty-five federal reserve economists from thruout the nation will meet in Chicago Tuesday and Wednesday to lay the research groundwork upon which the treasury will rely in setting the quotas for the next big war financing drive, it was learned yesterday.

In contrast with the 13 billion dollar December campaign, which was dumped into the laps of the reserve system and the victory fund committees with only 10 days' notice, the next drive is to be planned far in advance, and the reserve system and the committees will have the experience of the first drive to guide them.

Presidents Ask Research.

The presidents conference, consisting of the presidents of the 12 reserve banks met in the last week of January and asked the federal reserve board's subcommittee on research and statistics to explore the economic aspects of the next campaign and determine the bases on which equitable quotas for the various reserve districts could be estimated. The economist meeting is the result.

The research authorities, in arriving at their recommendations, will consider such economic factors as population, bill holdings of commercial banks, and their excess reserves, idle cash balances of corporations, and amounts of individual savings available for investment. They also will attempt to uncover new nonbanking sources of funds for investment in treasury securities as a means of helping finance the war.

The date for the next campaign has not been announced, but it is expected to be early in April.

Young to Be Host.

Clifford S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, will be host to the research group.

Six research officials from the Chicago reserve bank will join in the sessions, and 19 will be sent from other reserve banks. The Chicago representatives will be John K. Langum, assistant vice president of the bank; H. Fred Wilson, manager of research and statistics department; Walter B. Garver, agricultural economist; Walter Hoadley, industrial economist; William Tongue, financial economist, and L. H. Jones, bank examiner.

The reserve board's research department will be represented by Woodlief Thomas, its assistant director; John Bergelin, and Dave Kennedy.

New Yorker Is Chairman.

H. V. Roelse, assistant vice president of the New York Federal Reserve bank, is chairman of the subcommittee which will conduct the Chicago study. With him as another representative of the bank will be Norris O. Johnson, manager of its research and statistics department.

Other districts will send the following reserve bank officials:

Boston—Henry R. Bowser, manager of the research division of the Boston reserve bank.

HOLDS PROFITS THRU SHIFTING OF OPERATIONS

How one instalment banking house shifted its operations to keep on a profitable basis when government restrictions on instalment buying and reduced consumer and durable merchandise volume cut into its business was told yesterday by Walter E. Heller, president of Walter E. Heller & Co.

When war broke, the Heller company was faced with a prospective shrinking of retail autombile notes and collateralized equipment loans. To offset this it embarked on an extensive program of factoring the operation of war goods manufacturers and processors, including a number of dehydrated food products companies in Chicago and the middle west.

As a result, the company was able to hold its profits for 1942 at about the same level as in 1941 despite widely increased taxes. The 1942 annual report showed a profit of $518,888, equal to $1.62 a share, against $535,030, or $1.68 a share, in 1941.

WHEAT FUTURES LOSE EARLY GAIN AS RYE WEAKENS

Reports that the government would be in the market for 500,000 barrels of flour shortly, and that chain bakeries were inquiring for 200,000 barrels, combined with purchases of wheat futures by mills, lifted wheat prices fractions of a cent a bushel in the early trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Weakness in rye then caused a selloff in wheat of about 1 cent from the early top, but wheat rallied later in the session on a resumption of mill buying and final sales were unchanged to ⅛ cent lower.

NEW MAP OF TUNISIA COMBAT ZONE

This is a new detailed map of Tunisia, showing the combat area in which the axis forces are making their stand. Indicated upon the map are cities, towns, mining settlements, all railroads and roads, water courses, and mountain ranges, with the altitudes of the individual mountains involved in the war news. The north end of the famous Mareth defenses of the French is shown in the lower right corner. The line of linked dots indicates the approximate battle front of Feb. 1. Allied armies are west of this line. The British 8th army is advancing from the southeast in an effort to join them.
